Having referred to the present crisis, he said that an opportunity was afforded to the young men of the branch to study the present political situation. It was the business of the young men to seek methods of solutions to the problems confronting us, and this branch could do a tremendous amount of work in influencing public opinion in the building up of a policy for the future.

Mr. Minch (chairman), having thanked the members for his re-election, referred to the extensive programme of activity which has been arranged for the branch, and he asked members to continue to give the co-operation which was necessary to carry it to success.

MANCHESTER MARKETS REVIEW.

VALUES VERY STEADY.

(FROM OUR COMMERCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Although business in the provision trade can hardly be described as brisk, with one or two exceptions values remain steady, and the week closes with a sharp upward movement in both lard and Colonial cheese. The Danish official quotation for butter has again been wired unchanged, and "top" still stands at 154 kroner per 100 kilos. At the corresponding period of last year, the figure was 150 kroner, and in 1931 190 kroner. There is again a firm feeling to note in both Continental and Colonial makes, and the latter continue to move in an upward direction. It is interesting to note that the Anglo-Danish trade agreement stipulates that the import duty on butter remains at 15s. per cwt., and, if quantitative regulations should be introduced, the Danish allocation shall be, at least, 2,300,000 cwts. yearly. If the total butter imports into Great Britain should exceed 8,100,000 cwts. in a year, Denmark shall be allotted her share in excess of that quantity. There shall, for a period of three years, be no import duty on bacon in Great Britain, and the Danish allocation of bacon and hams is not to be less than 62 per cent. of the total imports from foreign countries. As for eggs, the present tariff will be retained, and the Danish allocation is not to be less than 5,500,000 great hundreds in any year. Should a reduction of the total imports take place in order to secure maintenance of a reasonable level of prices, the British Ministry will consult with the Danish Government on this matter.

HIGH BACON PRICES.

So far as bacon is concerned, the high prices ruling for both Irish and Danish have checked demand to a certain extent, but the under-priced meats maintain late rates. It would appear that present arrivals of bacon, from the importer's point of view, are on the short side, particularly the under-priced descriptions, which have been chiefly in request, and the import markets have been decidedly active. The introduction of the quota system is mainly responsible for the present awkward state of affairs and the raising of the cost of bacon to the consumer. Any interference with the natural law of supply and demand usually ends in failure, and this endeavour on the part of authorities to regulate the prices has not resulted, so far, in anything that can be desired. The market for eggs has quietened down somewhat, and, though there was little change in quotations at the close, there was every probability of an easier feeling ruling in the near future.

LIVE STOCK.

There was some falling-off in the number of fat cattle, sheep and lambs penned at the Manchester Cattle market on Tuesday last. Fat cattle, which included a number of Canadian heifers, met with a steady trade, but there was little alteration in values. Lambs continued plentiful and cheaper, and sheep were also easier to buy. At the Manchester Pig market the usual seasonal falling-off in demand was reported, and prices generally have declined accordingly. Available supplies have been equal to the demand, which has been very slow, especially for small fat pigs, which experienced a very poor sale. Business at the Manchester Dead Meat market has been by no means active throughout the week, and there was some disposition on the part of sellers to grant concessions to induce business. Home-killed lamb had to be cleared at reduced prices, and the position of other descriptions of home-killed and imported meat could by no means be described as strong.

Dead poultry closed quiet and on the easy side. Arrivals of salmon throughout the week have been by no means heavy, and Irish closes firm and dearer at around 2s. 4d. per lb. (wholesale).

LONDON HIDES AND LEATHER.

(SPECIAL REPORT.)

The position generally shows a satisfactory improvement, and prices of all descriptions of hides were firmer. English ox and heifer first clear 90lb. and up sold at 4½d. to 5d., 80-89lb. and 70-79lb. 4½d. to 5d., 60-69lb. 4½d., 50-59lb. 3½d., 49lb. and under 3½d. to 3½d.; first clear cows 3½d. to 3½d., first clear bulls 2½d. per lb. Calf-skins were firmer, 9-16lb. 5½d. to 5½d. Foreign hides were in good demand, with B.A. Americanos sold at 5½d., Cuyabanos at 5d., and dry first Capes at 6¼d. per lb. The demand for sole leather has been more active than for some time past, and prices all round were steadier. Light-weight bends suitable for manufacturing purposes were in keen demand, and better prices were occasionally asked and paid. The market for offal has improved, and considerable quantities of bellies have been disposed of during the past week, and prices were consequently decidedly steadier. In the rough leather section split hides occasionally made a trifle more money. Upper leathers were in active request, and prices tended dearer. It is reported that spot stocks are in limited compass. Reptiles were again in active request.

LIVERPOOL MEAT IMPORTS.

There was a large falling off in the imports of frozen sheep and lambs landed at Liverpool last week, and with the exception of a shipment of live cattle, a reduction in other classes of meat. Only four steamers arrived from the various overseas ports, with freights as follow:—The Duchess of Atholl, from Montreal, with 722 boxes, etc., of meat; the Manchester Regiment, from Montreal, with 489 cattle; the Moliere, from River Plate, with 5,391 sheep and lamb carcases, 18 sides of veal, 876 cases of pork, 2,955 bags, etc., of meat, and 25,706 quarters of beef; and the Scythia, from New York, with 389 boxes of meat—making a total of 489 cattle, 5,399 sheep and lamb carcases, 18 sides of veal, 876 cases of pork, 4,066 bags, etc., of meat, and 25,706 quarters of beef. Compared with the arrivals of the preceding week, these figures show an increase of 489 cattle, and a decrease of 109,014 sheep and lamb carcases, 1,731 cases of pork, 32 sides of veal, 6,388 bags, etc., of meat, and 2,981 quarters of beef.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

LONDON STOCK MARKET FEATURES.

THE POLICY OF INVESTORS.

RUBBERS, OILS AND "KAFFIRS."

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Sunday.

The problems of the investor have scarcely been simplified by the recent course of Stock Markets. Those who consider that Gilt-edged Securities have seen their highest prices, and that the future trend of values there will be downward, may prove to be right; but if stocks are sold on this idea the difficulty of finding suitable re-investments immediately arises. Some people have settled the matter by purchasing Ordinary Shares, but the cautious investor will hesitate to adopt a policy which means giving up sound investments (even though they may be fully valued) in order to buy speculative securities. It can be reasonably argued that certain Ordinary Shares are almost gilt-edged, in that the financial position of the company is exceedingly strong, and there is more likelihood of an increase in the dividend in the future than a reduction. A general increase in dividends, however, cannot be expected, and if prices of the best Ordinary Shares rise much more new purchasers will have to be content with a yield not much greater than that now obtainable from British Government and Municipal Stocks.

THE DEMAND FOR ORDINARY SHARES.

There is no doubt that an important change of sentiment has lately taken place in regard to Stock Exchange operations. For the present the "safety first" securities are rather out of favour, mainly because of a belief that there is little or no scope for further appreciation. The higher-priced Industrial Preference and Debenture issues have been sold for the same reason, and the proceeds invested in so-called "equities," the rise in which has lately been rather remarkable. For the sake of the buyers, it is to be hoped that the movement will be justified by a recovery in trade leading to increased industrial earnings; but it is difficult to believe that to some extent at least the prospects and possibilities are not discounted by the present level of prices. There is a strong speculative element in the present demand for Ordinary Shares, and when speculation holds the field intrinsic merits, as gauged by the returns afforded at current prices, are usually ignored.

DEPRECIATED RAILWAY SECURITIES.

At the back of the upwards movement in Industrials is the hope of better trade and a further improvement in commodity prices, and if this hope is well based it would seem that some of the Railway Stocks are as attractive as ever. Unlike many Industrial Ordinary Shares, these have not experienced a substantial appreciation, so that they give much more scope for capital appreciation. This remark applies to English as well as Argentine descriptions, with possibilities in the Brazilian group and, perhaps, also in United of Havana issues. The Debenture Stocks of the Argentine Railways can reasonably be classed as sound investments, a fact that has been stressed in these notes more than once, but the scope for improvement is far greater in the Preference issues. To speculative investors with a weakness for greatly depressed securities, the Debenture Stocks of the United Railways of the Havana make a strong appeal. This company largely depends upon the carriage of sugar and sugar products, and in view of the greatly-improved outlook for that industry, it is rather surprising that there has been little or no recovery in these particular securities.

LOW-PRICED DEBENTURES.

Admittedly the company's financial position is by no means satisfactory, but if once the belief obtains that the worst of the situation has been experienced, and that there is at last the prospect of better times in the future, this circumstance will be ignored by market operators and the stocks taken in hands for higher prices. How great the scope for appreciation is may be gathered from the fact that the various Debentures are quoted at prices ranging from 22¼ down to about 9. Current quotations provide one anomaly in the fact that, while United of Havana Ordinary stock is quoted about £4 per £100 nominal and the 5 per cent. Preference at £4 10s., the 5 per cent. Debenture (1906) stock stands at less than £11, with business lately at £10.

AN UNDERVALUED STOCK.

Granted that the scope for improvement in an Ordinary stock so much below its par value is very great, the 5 per cent. Debenture of the same company, at under £11, gives as much margin for appreciation as any speculative investor could wish, and, of course, nothing can be paid on the Ordinary, or the Preference for that matter, until the Debenture interest is fully met. There are, of course, many South American Railway stocks standing at exceedingly low prices, and a purchaser must be prepared for a very long wait before getting a return on his money, though it might come quickly from capital appreciation.

OIL SHARES.

It would be interesting to know the real reason why the directors of the Burmah Oil Co. raised the dividend from 17½ to 20 per cent. in respect of a year which saw a reduction of £344,000 in the net profits. Perhaps, the most reasonable explanation is that owing to the generous provision made for depreciation in the past, it is felt that the company can now safely divide a larger proportion of the profits among Ordinary shareholders, who certainly have suffered a considerable reduction in their income since the company paid 30 per cent. It is also true that the financial position of the Burmah Co. is very strong, and it may be that the directors were influenced by the advocacy of a policy of spending more for the benefit of the community. The maintenance of the previous dividends by the Shell and Royal Dutch Companies was in accordance with expectations. As regards British Controlled, which have been well supported since the declaration of 3 per cent. on the Preferred, there is a confident belief that for the current year the company will pay the full dividend on this particular security, and, as the shares are of £1 each, the present price of under 14s. gives room for a further improvement if this belief should prove to be justified.

RUBBER PROSPECTS.

It is probable that many people have holdings of Rubber shares, bought when prices were very much higher. Such people, having stuck to their guns through a long period of depression, are not likely to sell with the first indication that the industry has turned the corner. The outlook is certainly more encouraging now than for a considerable time past, for not only is the price of rubber hardening in sympathy with the movement in other commodities, but production costs have been reduced to an exceptionally low level. This means that when world trade is better, involving a much bigger demand for rubber, the benefits to the producing companies will be very considerable. Even under the depressed conditions that have ruled hitherto, one or two undertakings have been able to declare dividends for last year. It is believed, therefore, that the future will see a higher range for Rubber shares generally.

KAFFIRS.

If this year's rise in Transvaal Gold shares had been the result of a boom, such as the market has experienced on more than one occasion in the past, a substantial reaction in prices would have taken place before now. The buying of the leading shares since South Africa went off gold, however, has not represented an unreasonable gamble. It was based on the virtual certainty that gold will continue to command a relatively high price in terms of sterling, thus enabling the producing companies to increase the scope of their operations very greatly by the profitable treatment of low-grade ore, which previously was regarded as unpayable. In this way, and also through the exploitation of new areas, the life of the South African goldfields will be prolonged almost indefinitely.

CHARACTER OF THIS YEAR'S BUYING.

A considerable amount of speculative buying has taken place, of course, but the point should be stressed that a great deal of the buying this year has been of an investment character and on behalf of important financial corporations, the directors of which decided that gold mining shares are not a wild speculation, but really a promising and attractive investment. The shares so bought will not be thrown on the market on any sign of a reaction in prices. They will be held for dividends, so that a substantial reduction in the supply available for dealings seems to be assured, a circumstance that will go far to neutralise the effect of any realisations by speculators. Various other mining shares, notably Broken Hill descriptions and those of the various tin propositions, are being helped now by the rising tendency of base metal prices. With the growth of interest in industrial ordinary shares and the better market for various railway securities, the stock markets now are certainly much more interesting.

LONDON MINING MARKET NEGLECTED.

PRICES STEADY.

Trading in all departments of the Mining market was of very restricted proportions, and was seldom sufficient to warrant the alteration of prices. The firmness of metals during last week did not assist the relative sections of the Share market. There was no support for Tin shares, and a few issues were marked down fractionally.

Interest in Rhodesian Copper shares was confined to Roan Antelope. The tone among these issues was rather dull at the start, but improved later without affecting quotations.

The general disposition not to open fresh commitments before the week-end was attributable to the unsatisfactory trend of affairs in Germany. It was notable, however, that sellers were almost equally as scarce as buyers.

Features were lacking in the Kaffir market. Apart from purchases of East Rands, Johannesburg did nothing worth mentioning. Locally the tendency was rather to reduce open positions, but the liquidation was of such small proportions as to pass almost unnoticed. The Paris stocks were scarcely mentioned owing to the fact that the French capital was closed. The rise of 3d. in the price of gold was given scant attention. Closing prices:—

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN QUIET.

FUNDS STEADIER.

Dublin Stock Market on Saturday was as quiet as it possibly could be without being closed altogether. Free State Funds were steady, but Land Bonds were easier. War Loan was weaker, following the fall in London.

Banks were firm.

Guinness rose 1½d. to 85s. 7½d., and Power Pref. lost threepence. Dublin Tram Pref. rose ¼ to 9½, and Alliance Gas was unchanged. Bolands Ord. repeated 100s.

The Industrial Market was untested, and the three or four markings showed little or no change.

LONDON DULL.

GERMAN BONDS WEAK.

There was a marked diminution in the volume of business transacted during the brief session in the London Stock markets on Saturday, and all departments wore almost a neglected appearance. As a consequence, prices displayed a downward trend all round, and although generally the margins were of modest dimensions, in a number of instances quotations were reduced considerably. The outstanding feature was provided by a further sharp recession in German Bonds, following upon the decision of the German Government to pay the "Young" Loan interest on a currency, instead of a gold, basis. This came as a shock to the City, and in the circumstances it was natural that quotations slumped sharply, and in the early dealings the "Young" Loan was well over 5 points below the previous day's closing figure. The "Dawes" Loan was sympathetically affected, and, while the set-back in these was not so severe, it was nevertheless considerable. A partial recovery occurred later, but at the close the "Young" Loan showed a loss of 4 points, while the "Dawes" Loan finished 2½ points back. Not much Stock was offered, and the tendency was to await further developments in the situation.

Quiet conditions characterised the Gilt-edged market, and the trend of values was again adverse to holders. Consols 2½ p.c. dropped a further ½ to 72½, this comparing with 73⅞ on Thursday last, while the 4 p.c. were only 108⅝, a loss of a further ¼. War Loan 3½ p.c., Funding Loan and Victory Bonds were content to remain at Friday's reduced levels, and Local Loans showed no further alteration, but among Conversion Loans the 4½ p.c. and 5 p.c. were each ¼ back to 110⅜ and 115½ respectively. India Stocks also lost fresh ground, the 3 p.c. and 3½ p.c. each finishing a point lower, but Irish Free State Land Bonds repeated 109½. Easier conditions ruled in the Foreign Government Stock market, but apart from the German Bonds, which are dealt with above, the margins returned at the end were of narrow proportions. British Rails were almost entirely neglected, and most of the leaders and a few of the Junior Stocks lost the turn. Great Western Ord. and Midland Ord. each fell ½, with North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. finally ⅜ lower to 9½. Metropolitans and Undergrounds also eased a shade. Colonial and Foreign Rails, on the other hand, although extremely quiet, preserved a satisfactory tone, and movements on balance favoured holders.

The Industrial market attracted only a modicum of attention, and the majority of the movements returned were in the downward direction. Textiles and Breweries went back, as did the trans-Atlantic issues, while the Miscellaneous group displayed an easier front. Iron, Coal and Steels, however, preserved a satisfactory tendency, and among Motors, Austins strengthened appreciably. Elsewhere Mines were dull and uninteresting, while Oils, apart from Royal Dutch, which showed strength, were little changed. Rubber Shares easily maintained their recent advance.

THE MONEY MARKET

PLETHORA OF LOANS.

Lenders in the short loan market on Saturday morning had great difficulty in finding a use for the funds at their disposal even at the low rate of ½ per cent. for fresh money. Banks, other than those in the London clearing, were offering new loans freely at this rate, and in many cases had to leave money unused. The clearing banks continued to hold out for their minimum rate of 1 per cent.

The tone in the discount market remained weak. The new bills were dealt in for delivery in the coming week at 7/16 per cent., while July dates were obtainable at ½ per cent. and the shorter bills down to 5/16 per cent.

The exchange market had a very quiet morning. The Paris rate took a downward course for a while on operations apparently on behalf of the Control, but the closing French rate of 85 11/16 was ¼ franc higher on the day. The New York rate was a cent down at 3.96¼. The principal Continental currencies generally moved in favour of sterling, the Brussels rate rising to 24.32, the Dutch exchange to 8.42, while the Berlin rate moved up to 14.42½. The Swiss exchange rose to 17.54. A feature of the morning was the offering of Swiss francs forward, the discount for the three months' position widening sharply to 15-20 centimes on the spot rate.

Fine gold rose 3d. to 123s. 6d. per ounce. This represented a premium of, roughly, 10d. per ounce. Silver declined ⅛d. for cash and 3/16d. for forward to 18⅛d. per ounce for both positions.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

DUNLOPS SUPPORTED.

Quieter conditions prevailed in most sections of the Industrial Market on Saturday, and prices generally were inclined to ease owing to the uncertain foreign political outlook. Support, however, was not entirely lacking. A bright feature was provided by Crittalls Preference, which changed hands freely on the understanding that the company is doing much better following an advertising campaign. Fresh buying orders were received for Dunlops, on further consideration of the chairman's remarks at the meeting.

The Trans-Atlantic counters seemed rather undecided in their movements at first, but a harder tendency was noticeable towards the close. Nickels finished at 17¾, after 17⅝; Radios at 9⅜, after 9¼, and Drugs at 59¾. "Emmies" moved within narrow limits, and eventually closed unchanged.

Cables and Wireless stocks lost the improvement recorded on Friday, the Preference receding to 85, the "A" Ordinary to 29½ and the "B" Ordinary to 12.

Austins came in for renewed attention among Motors, the Ordinary advancing 9d. to 58s. 9d. Leylands further improved to 28s., and Napiers to 5s., but Thomas Tillings were dull at 57s.

After a firm opening, Iron, Coal and Steel descriptions were inclined to ease in the absence of further supporting orders.

Textiles were overshadowed by the Fine Spinners results, which, although making a rather better showing, were considered disappointing. The Ordinary were a nominal market at around 11s., and the Preference were marked down to 10s. Bleachers receded to 11s. 7½d., Bradford Dyers to 16s., Sewing Cottons to 40s. 3d., and Patons and Baldwins to 46s. 4½d. The rest were fairly steady.

In the Rayon section American Celanese closed ⅛ lower at 4 5/16, but British Celanese Ordinary rallied to 10s. 3d. Courtaulds and Canadian Celanese closed unchanged.

Tate and Lyles resumed their upward trend, closing 3d. higher at 69s. 9d. Selfridge Pref. were a firm feature in the Stores section, leaving off 9d. to the good at 21s. 6d. Woolworths were dull at 80s.

Apart from Courage Ord., which improved to 45s. 6d. there was little fresh business passing among Breweries, and prices were inclined to sag. Allsopps receded to 24s. 6d., Bass Ratcliff to 66s. 6d., Guinness to 85s. and Watney Deferred to 45s. 3d.

The Tobacco leaders seemed somewhat steadier. Carreras "A" hardened to 7⅜ and the "B" shares to 18s. 6d., while "Bats" and "Imps" remained at the overnight levels. Gallahers further improved to 45s. 3d.

The publication of the Dunlop Chairman's speech was followed by fresh support for the units, which regained a few pence to 27s., leaving off a firm market at that level. Building Supply shares showed irregularity. Indestructible Paint at 52s. and International Paint at 42s. 6d. both closed a few pence higher. London Brick gave way 6d. to 55s. 6d. Crittalls Pref., however, attracted strong support and gained no less than 1s. 3d. to 16s. Chemicals regained their overnight level after a dull start.

RUBBER SHARES QUIET.

Decidedly quieter conditions characterised the Rubber Share Market, yet share prices were well maintained, and in not a single instance was any recession shown from the higher levels established recently. Indeed, in the two instances where quotations showed material alteration the movements were favourable to holders, Anglo-Dutch advancing a further 3d. to 13s. 6d., while Rubber Trusts closed 4½d. higher at 19s. In the raw material department at the commencement a firm tone prevailed, sellers showing some reserve. Subsequently a good deal of irregularity occurred, but the close was quietly steady. Spot opened at 3 1/16d. and slipped back to 3d. per lb., while June also closed at 3d. per lb. after being 3 1/16d. at one time. July to September was quoted 3⅛d., 3 1/16d., 3⅛d., 3 1/16d. and 3 3/32d. per lb., while October to December moved between 3 3/16d. and 3 1/16d., closing at the lower level.

OIL SHARES IDLE.

The quieter conditions which prevailed in the Oil Share Market on Friday were responsible for a small attendance of members on Saturday last. Not only were there few dealers present, but those who attended found little to occupy their attention, business all round being on an extremely small scale. Advices received overnight from New York were of a satisfactory character, higher prices coming over for most of the leading American Oil stocks. The Paris Bourse was closed, and there was virtually nothing doing on account of operators in Amsterdam. In the circumstances, and bearing in mind the small volume of transactions, the recognised leaders kept remarkably firm. The few movements shown at the end were irregular in character, and of modest amount.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

GILT-EDGE PROSPECTS.

In such circles the view is held that it is far too early to expect any permanent re-action in gilt-edged securities. Trade remains unsatisfactory; the April foreign trade returns were distinctly poor, while the international situation shows little sign of actual improvement. For the moment Industrial shares may be popular, but it is a popularity based on the unstable foundations of depreciated currencies (writes The Observer.) Until a real and not merely an apparent movement takes place in trade, and idle money finds employment in aiding new enterprise, it must continue to flow into gilt-edged stocks. For the moment the big buyers are holding their hands. The re-action in values is in their interests. When they once more return to the market, and such a return would appear to be inevitable, a prompt recovery should be seen. Meanwhile it is significant that Treasury bills went on Saturday at a discount rate of 7s. 8d. per cent., against 8s. 6d. last week. There were signs on Saturday of wavering in the upward movement in Industrials. Profit-taking came into evidence, and dealers were quick to protect themselves by marking down quotations. They realise fully the extent to which speculation pure and simple is responsible for the movement, and make their books accordingly. It is, indeed, quite clear that, while the present uncertainty exists regarding the international situation, particularly in the United States and Germany, wide fluctuations in prices will be the rule and not the exception.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE EQUALISATION FUND.

A Dollar Stabilisation Fund, similar to the British Exchange Equalisation Fund, is expected to be established by the Federal Reserve Board within a couple of months, according to Saturday's New York Evening Post. The newspaper adds that Wall street does not envisage any "battle with the pound," but rather co-operation with London in efforts to stabilise the relationship of both currencies.

"TELOG'S" FUTURE.

The board of Telogoredjo United Plantations, Ltd., states that it is necessary to raise further capital, and it has been decided that the best policy is a scheme of reconstruction. It has been decided, therefore, to form a new company with a capital of £600,000 to take over the assets and assume the liabilities of the present company. Every member of the present company would be entitled to one share of £1, credited 17s. paid, for every share now held. The new company will create £350,000 8 per cent. Debenture Stock, and Debenture stockholders are to receive £1 of such Debenture Stock for each £1 of Debenture Stock held. The new Stock will be repayable at the rate of £120 per £100 Debenture stock on December 31, 1948, instead of at the rate of £105 per £100 as at present, the new company to have the option to repay earlier at the same premium. Debenture stockholders are to have the right to convert their stock into fully-paid Ordinary shares at par at any time prior to December 31, 1940. Subscriptions invited from the shareholders amounting to £89,283 have been guaranteed. The company's profit and loss account for 1932 shows a credit of £3,821, compared with £5,387 in 1931. The combined profit and loss account of the subsidiaries shows a loss of £14,207, increasing the debit to £34,846. The sum of £391,530 has been transferred from the parent company's reserve to the credit of reserves in the subsidiaries' accounts.

PHILIPS' INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

Higginson and Co., Fiscal Agents of Philips' Incandescent Lamp Works Holding Company, announce that the directors of the operating company (Philips' Incandescent Lamp Company) have resolved to recommend a return of capital of 25 per cent. in cash on the Ordinary and Preference shares. The Ordinary and Preference shares of the holding company will be entitled to a return of capital at the same rate—i.e., florins 250 for every share of florins 1,000 nominal, thus reducing the nominal value of each share to florins 750. The Ordinary units of florins 10 are quoted in London around 32s.

SUEZ CANAL CAPITAL.

Sir Arnold Wilson, at the May meeting of the Joint East African Board, said that during the last ten years nearly 70 per cent. of the gross receipts of the Suez Canal Company had been distributed as dividends. The British Government held over 176,000 shares, but the statutes of the company provided that no shareholder should have more than ten votes. The possession of 250 shares entitled a shareholder to an equal voting power with the British Government. One way of obtaining control over the company in the General Assembly would be for the British Government to distribute shares in parcels of 250 to trustees, forming a voting block of 706 trustees with ten votes each. It had been suggested some years ago that the various countries of the British Empire affected should purchase blocks of shares from the British Government, so that the British Empire would be entitled to 7,060 votes, and would thus have effective control over the company. Another remedy would be for shipowners throughout the world to refrain from using the Canal whenever possible. In fact, at the present time not more than 10 per cent. of ships bound for Australia went through the Suez Canal, as against 25 per cent. six years ago. The running expenses of a ship from day to day had become lower during this period, and the Canal dues formed a higher percentage of the total charges. The Suez Canal charges were at present 6 gold francs per ton, some 40 per cent. higher at the current rate of the dollar than those of the Panama Canal, which cost two and a half times as much to construct and twice as much to maintain.

"PROSPERITY" SHARES.

Anticipating requests from readers for Industrial Ordinary shares likely to appreciate if the present demand continues, we (Sunday Times) would suggest the following:—

Imperial Tobacco,	Amalgamated Anthracite Collieries,
Benskins Brewery,	Associated Electrical,
Tootal Broadhurst,	Imperial Smelting,
J. and P. Coats,	Turner and Newall,
Stewarts and Lloyds,	Imperial Chemicals,
Guest Keen and Nettlefolds,	Wall Paper Deferred.

Of these Imperial Tobaccos offer a good return on the basis of last year's dividend, and, although there is some doubt as to whether this rate can be maintained for the current year, the company would undoubtedly benefit from any general revival of prosperity, the hope of which is the main reason for buying Ordinary shares at the present time. The others have been chosen as representative of various industries. Some of these, including Imperial Chemical and Guest Keen, have world-wide connections, and would benefit materially from the restoration of better exchange conditions. In the case of Turner and Newall, the rationalising of the asbestos industry is believed to have improved dividend prospects, and the market is talking hopefully of an increase in the coming interim dividend to 2½ per cent. Stewarts and Lloyds have a vast programme of expansion on hand, and the shares must be regarded as a lock-up for appreciation when this is completed. Each of the shares has been selected for its speculative prospects, and it is not claimed that the list is in any way exhaustive.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

An Aughrim Mill : Dun Ængus : A Theatrical Romance.
Galway and Columbus : Dirty Daisies.

Barbed Wire—Barbaric Style.

A recent note of mine on the mighty structure of Dun Ængus in Inishmore, in the Arans—Petrie's remark that it is "the most magnificent barbaric monument now extant in Europe" is worth repeating—prompts a correspondent to tell me that one of the things that struck him greatly on a visit to this immensely old stronghold was the arrangement of pointed stones on the approaches. These stones are all leaning outwards, their bases sunk in the ground, and their heads, or points—for though they are weather-worn now by the gales of centuries, it can easily be seen that they were pointed—towards an advancing foe. It is a chevaux-de-frise in stone, a prehistoric example of the obstacle of which the barbed wire entanglement is the representative to-day. The military engineers of the Firbolgs knew the art of rendering an enemy's approach difficult and dangerous to him. War never changes very much in essentials. It was a matter of defence and attack, ambush and surprise, twenty centuries ago, and, if it still exists twenty centuries hence, it will, no doubt, be the same. Great and powerful as Dun Ængus was, it succumbed at length.

Galway and Columbus.

Mention of Dun Ængus and the Arans reminds me of Galway, that ever-fascinating city. It is a pity that Galway, with its wonderful historical interest and the beauty of its buildings, is not better known. It will be, no doubt, if the city becomes the gateway to America—and, conversely, to Europe—as is designed. But did Columbus ever visit Galway? The story goes that he did, as part of his survey of oceanic conditions preparatory to the historic venture across the Atlantic. I have heard the assertion often, but confess I have never seen any verification of it, and so am still sceptical. In one way it seems reasonable enough; for we know there were great comings and goings between Galway and Spain in Spain's hey-day. But it seems a little improbable that a skilled navigator like Columbus should have contemplated a journey so far north as a preliminary to a venture in search of India—the object he had in view, as we know. If there is any evidence that Columbus actually visited Galway, I should like to know of it. I should never deny the possibility.

A Theatrical Engagement.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Meriel Moore to Mr. Pat Saunders has come as no surprise to her many friends in Dublin; for it was an open secret for quite a long time. Miss Moore met her fiancé when they were both touring South Africa, and he played at the Gate Theatre here last year in the first production of "Death Takes a Holiday" under the nom de théatre of Patrick O'Moore. He is at present playing in London's latest play "Heritage," at the Fortune Theatre. It will be remembered that Miss Moore, after winning a prize in a beauty contest promoted by an English daily newspaper, went to London to enjoy a well-earned Christmas vacation after her successful season at the Gate. While in London she was informed by a friend in the cast of Mr. Cochran's "Dinner at Eight" that one of the leading ladies had been taken ill suddenly. Miss Moore worked up the part at six hours' notice, and was engaged to understudy for the remainder of the run, which, incidentally, has not yet ended. She has consequently enjoyed the novel experience of having to attend at the theatre for every performance of the play, and in her nightly three hours of enforced idleness, has been able to read a large number of those books one always wants to read, but never can in the bustle of everyday life.

Mr. Louis Culhane.

I was sorry to hear yesterday of the death of Mr. Louis Culhane, who for many years was a well-known figure in Dublin business circles. He lived in the Martello Tower at Portrane, which he had converted into a well-appointed and comfortable dwelling, and only this year he had built a glass annexe in the form of a gigantic sun-chamber. In his youth Mr. Culhane was one of the best swimmers in the country, and on several occasions distinguished himself by his life-saving exploits. Last year he saved the life of a swimmer who had got into difficulties at Portrane, and he always kept a watchful eye in choppy weather lest bathers should expose themselves to danger. He was a man of very powerful physique, and had distinguished himself at other forms of sport as well as swimming. His death will be regretted by a large number of friends to whom his tower at Portrane had become a frequent and welcome port of call.

Dirty Daisies.

When crossing a field the other day it seemed to me that I had never before seen so many daisies, or such white ones; they positively gleamed against the green carpet of grass. I was reminded of something told to me recently by a very old Irish lady, who said she could not bear London, because the daisies there were so filthy. As a small child my old friend was taken from her County Wicklow home in a lovely valley to the London house of her grandmother in a fashionable square. She was appalled by the lack of freedom and by the hard pavements on which she must walk when she went out. She longed passionately for the fields of home; for the country sounds that were so unlike the noises of the city. Then, on a grassy plot in that square she found some daisies, and, picking them, she pressed them to her face. The grown-up who was with her exclaimed in horror and scrubbed the country child's cheeks with a white handkerchief, that soon was streaked with black. After seventy years the old lady still talked of the horrible sight.

Opening the Mill.

There is a good deal of interest in the town of Aughrim watching the preparations for the opening of the flour mill, which has been idle for the past six years. The fine mill, which formerly gave a great deal of employment, was one of the chief industries in that part of the County Wicklow. Now I hear that thirty men will be employed in June, when the mill re-opens, and this will mean that thirty homes will benefit when the wheel is seen swinging around again. The old mill, which is built of Irish granite, from the quarries near by, is being reconstructed by Mr. Fogarty, who has the chief interest in the concern. Mr. Fogarty is one of the most enterprising merchants in Arklow.

Aughrim.

I often wonder why this part of the country is not better known among the hikers. It is in the heart of the Wicklow mountains, and a centre for the trampers, with splendid mountain excursions amid lovely scenery. Just now the country is at its best, with the mountains and hedges ablaze with the gorse, and the workers of the soil busy on the land. Aughrim, which is about six miles from Avoca, translated from the Irish, means the Ridge of the Horses, but as there are three other towns of the same name in Ireland, no doubt there were great numbers of horses in these parts also. The walk from Avoca through Woodenbridge to Aughrim, and over the mountains to Tinahely and Shillelagh, is through a very beautiful country worthy of the real walker who wants to see the heart of the Garden of Ireland, and it should be seen at this season.

WELFARE OF THE BLIND.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Council for the Welfare of the Blind of Ireland was held at the Gresham Hotel, Dublin. Present:—The Chairman, Mr. Denis Barrett; Mrs. Boxwell, Miss Angela Boland, Miss L. Long, Mrs. Quin, Mrs. Raymond Stephenson, Miss Eacott, Dr. F. S. Lavery, Mr. J. F. Boydell, Dr. J. S. Quin, Mr. R. O'Farrell, Mr. W. R. McPherson, Mr. Denis Byrne, and representatives from St. Joseph's Blind Asylum (Rev. Prior Byrne), Richmond National Institution for the Blind (Mr. Cyril Dickinson), and National League of the Blind (Mr. Daniel O'Connor).

The Hon. Secretary reported that (1) the accounts of the stall at the Spring Show were not yet ready, as the helpers had not met; (2) an application as to how to obtain a trained guide dog for the blind had been received from County Kildare. Information had been sent, explaining that unless a training centre for the dogs and their prospective owners can be started in this country quarantine regulations make this help impossible; (3) three members of the Committee had been invited to hear a pipers' orchestra, in which every player had made her own pipe, at a cost of a few pence. It is hoped to develop this craft and musical training for the use of the blind. (4) The Minister for Posts and Telegraphs had promised that the Dublin Broadcasting Station should be re-opened as soon as certain technical alterations could be completed, so that crystal wireless sets may again be of use. (5) A letter has been received suggesting that kiosks are a suitable employment for capable, businesslike blind men, and the matter is being inquired into. (6) Mrs. Grove-White accepted a seat on the Executive Committee, and promised to do her best to assist.

Arrangements for the annual meeting on May 23rd were completed. Mrs. Holt Mather, founder of Lighthouse No. 1, New York, is not able to visit Europe this year, and so regretfully declined the Council's invitation to speak. Mr. S. W. Starling, of Birmingham (Chairman, Midland Branch, College of Teachers of the Blind), Dr. T. G. Moorhead, Dr. F. S. Lavery have promised to address the meeting. The Lord Mayor of Dublin will be present.

The Hon. Treasurer read a summary of the year's accounts, which have been audited. He expressed the hope that before long income from subscriptions might increase, so as to more nearly equal expenditure, which is far from the case at present.

ULSTER SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

As from to-day's date the number of Ulster Savings Certificates which any person may hold, or have interest in, has been reduced from 500 to 350 single Certificates, or the equivalent value in "multiple" Certificates.

This reduction is not altogether as drastic as it might appear. Up to August last, when the fourth issue was introduced, the price of a Certificate was 12s. 6d., and a person who bought the maximum number (500) was, therefore, investing £312 10s. in cash. The purchase price is now 16s., the term of maturity having been reduced from twelve to seven years. A person who buys the new maximum number (350) is investing £280 in cash, and there is, therefore, only a reduction of £32 10s. in the amount of money which he may save up and invest in the Certificates as compared with last July. Persons who held between 350 and 500 Certificates before 15th May may retain them, but may not purchase any more until their holdings have fallen below 350 by reason of repayments.

DUBLIN THEATRES.

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK.

"E. W. Tocher's" remarkable play, "A Bride for the Unicorn," will be continued at the Gate Theatre, Dublin, this week, John Stephenson taking the part of John Phosphorous, in place of Hilton Edwards. The Dublin Operatic Society are performing at the Gaiety Theatre. On Monday, Wednesday, and Friday "La Traviata" will be given, while on the other evenings the opera will be "The Bohemian Girl." The players include Mr. W. J. Lemass, Miss Patricia Black, and a chorus of seventy voices.

Jack Hylton appears with his band at the Theatre Royal, and will contribute the major part of the programme. There are a number of supporting variety acts, performed by George Doonan, Anna Rogers, Varney and Butt, and the Broadway Boys.

"Let's Go" is the revue which is being staged this week at the Queen's Theatre. Rose and Hewson, Ivor Hughes, Lily Wilkins, the Three Bonds, and the Queen's Moonbeam Girls will all appear. On the screen, "By Whose Hand," will be shown.

HIBERNIAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the Hibernian Bible Society General Committee was held in the Bible House, 41 and 42 Dawson street, Dublin. There were present:—Mr. Edward C. Buckley (presiding), the Rev. W. R. Budd, and Messrs. W. Houghton Fry, E. J. Anthony, W. D. Darling, Ireton Jones, W. H. Kenny, William Kyle, Benjamin Purdy, Octavius Wallace, and Richard H. White. The Rev. L. L. Sullivan, M.A., Deputation Secretary, was in attendance. Apologies for absence were received from Canon Hall, B.D., and the Rev. G. R. Elliott, LL.D. The minutes of the last meeting were confirmed. The various sub-committees were appointed for the ensuing year, and a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Barton, Straffan, for opening the recent sale of work, and to the ladies who organised and assisted at it. The report of the Stock Sub-Committee was received.

The Deputation Secretary reported that during the month of April fifteen sermons had been preached and twelve meetings held. Applications for grants were read and considered, and 2,443 Bibles, Testaments and Portions were granted free and at reduced prices for hospital, prizes and colportage work. Cheques were drawn to pay accounts as audited. A vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co. for auditing the accounts for the year. The Committee was glad to learn that the circulation by the British and Foreign Bible Society for the year ended March, 1933, amounted to 10,617,470 volumes of Scripture, and that twelve languages had been added to their list, bringing the total number to 667.

Contributions for the work at home and abroad will be thankfully received at the Bible House, Dawson street, Dublin.

ROYAL HIBERNIAN ACADEMY.

As will be seen from our advertisement columns to-day, the Royal Hibernian Academy again this year is throwing open its exhibition to parties of school children, not exceeding twenty in number, at an inclusive charge of 5s. for each party. In every case such parties must be accompanied by a teacher or other responsible person. Last year this privilege was highly valued.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE NOTES.

CHURCH PARADE.

THE PICNIC SEASON.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

A NOTABLE feature of the events in College during the week past was the Church Parade of the Officers' Training Corps on Sunday week, when the cadets marched with the colours and guard of honour to Mass at noon in the University Chapel. After the Church Service the corps marched to the College, where they were met by the Chief of Staff, Major-General Brennan, and the President of the College, Dr. D. J. Coffey, who inspected and later addressed the parade. Major-General Brennan spoke of the tradition of Irishmen as soldiers, which the corps had to assist in preserving. He congratulated the cadets on their appearance, and wished the corps every success. Dr. Coffey said that he was more than pleased to hear that the number of recruits had been so large this year and that the cadets had much on which to congratulate themselves. After the parade the Officer Commanding addressed the members of the colour party and guard of honour, thanking them for the large part which they had played in making the occasion an impressive one.

The corps will be in Griffith Barracks for next week-end, and, with the exception of one or two weekly parades, this will conclude the session until July 15th next, when the week-end will be spent in preparation for the annual camp at Finner, Co. Donegal, which will be from July 17th until August 1st. The past session has been probably the busiest one since the inauguration of the O.T.C., for the corps is now by far the biggest in the country and the course of training this year has been very wide, embracing a maximum number of almost fifty parades.

Trinity Term is the season for society excursions or "picnics," as they are invariably called, and arrangements are at present being made for quite a number. Ascension Thursday, May 25th, would seem to be the most popular day so far, for the Commerce Society in the person of Mr. P. J. Hogan, is organising a visit to Greystones that day, while on the same day the members and friends of the Chemical Society will be found at the Glen of the Downs. The Dramatic Society will be away on Saturday next, but the venue is not yet publicly known.

Arrangements are also being made for the annual chemical tour, which will take place next month, from June 17th until June 27th. The members will visit Yorkshire and its various factories, Birmingham, and, finally, London. They will be accompanied by the Professor of Chemistry, Dr. T. J. Nolan, Professor O'Farrelly, Dr. J. Keane and Dr. A. G. G. Leonard.

ONE-ACT PLAYS.

The Dramatic Society, after the successes of the public production, is arranging the production of some one-act plays on to-morrow week. I have heard the name of only one of them, "The Storm," by Drinkwater, which will be produced by Miss Nora O'Mahony. The decision to produce one-act plays is a very popular one, as it gives an opportunity to almost every member of making at least one appearance on the boards. Miss Bernadette Plunket, a member of the Society, had an exceptional success as Jeanette in de Bauville's "Gringoire," at the Abbey Theatre, last week. Miss Plunket gave a pleasing picture last term of Thackeray's Becky Sharp, in an adaptation from "Vanity Fair," performed privately in the Society's rooms.

The usual meeting of the Students' Representative Council was held on Wednesday night. The Committee set up to reorganise the constitution of the Council reported progress, while the president reported a certain amount of progress in the Students' Union building question. The meeting also dealt with a number of small disciplinary matters before adjourning. Usually at this time of year the Council finds itself with very little to do, and of that there is very little can be done by the Committee. In fact, almost without exception, everything that has been done by the S.R.C. was done through the efforts of the Committee of the time. It is probable, therefore, that the new constitution will do away with the need for regular fortnightly meetings, and will order instead a minimum of one meeting per term, which is the most that will be held in consequence.

"L. AND H." NOMINATIONS.

The Literary and Historical Society held its usual meeting on Saturday night, when an impromptu debate was held, with Dr. John Mowbray, an ex-Auditor of the Society, in the chair. Nominations for the election of an auditor for next session will be received until the third Saturday in May—that is, next Saturday. The probable candidates will be Mr. Vivian de Valera, B.Sc., and Mr. Brian O Nuallain, B.A. There is the possibility of a third candidate, which ought make things more interesting. The outgoing auditor, Mr. J. F. Meenan, M.A., has been highly successful in putting the Society on a firm basis after the troubles and strife of last Michaelmas term. The new constitution, arranged by the Commission of Three, has proved most successful, and it remains to be seen how the new rules for auditorial elections will meet with the approval of the Society. Certainly on paper they seem much more likely to give satisfaction than the rather nebulous system followed in the past.

On Friday night the College Association Football Club held its annual dance in "86." As on Friday week, when the Agricultural Society's dance was held, the attendance was much larger than one would ordinarily expect at this time of year. The club has now concluded a most successful season, which finished with the annual Past and Present match and club dinner on Saturday week. Mr. Barry Hooper, the secretary, is highly pleased with the success of the season, and has high hopes for still greater triumphs next season. The dance on Friday night was the last in College until the autumn, with the exception of the Inter-'Varsity Sports Dance, which will be held in the Metropole Ballroom on Saturday, 27th May. Mr. O. L. Wallen, the secretary of the Athletic Club, is very busy at the moment organising the Inter-'Varsity Sports, as well as an athletic team's visit to London on Wednesday next.

The Boat Club has a new trainer in Mr. Dermot St. J. Gogarty, and is in strict training for the regatta season shortly opening. Mr. Gogarty, who is an architect, has gained wide experience of rowing during his time up at King's College, Cambridge. The club will enter boats for all the principal regattas, and is determined to make the coming season a greater success even than last year's.

NATIONAL PILGRIMAGE TO LOURDES.

COMPLETING THE ARRANGEMENTS.

At the monthly meeting of the Committee of the Irish Society of Our Lady of Lourdes, held at 30 South Anne street, Dublin, satisfactory progress of the booking of helpers for the pilgrimage to Lourdes was mentioned. The Committee hoped that members who have not already sent in their booking fee for the National Pilgrimage will do so as soon as possible, as the work of organising the helpers for the invalid section of the pilgrimage is about to take place immediately.

One handmaid and four brancardiers leave next week for Lourdes to spend the customary period there working for the sick. The brancardiers will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the Ozanam centenary celebrations in Paris on their way to Lourdes.

It was decided to hold a general meeting of the helpers during Horse Show week in Dublin, so that those residing long distances from Dublin might attend.

For beginners and those not experienced in working for invalids on pilgrimage trains, special instruction classes are being arranged, but those attending them must have already booked for the pilgrimage.

LIBRARIANS' CONFERENCE.

Mr. Donal Cronin, Cork County Librarian, writes:—"With reference to your report of the Librarians' Conference in Dublin, I wish to state that not even once in the course of my address did I mention the Government. I would like to add that, so far as the development of the Irish library service is concerned, Irish library authorities have always found the Government ready to render all the assistance in its power."

A COLOURFUL CEREMONY.

FRENCH MINISTER'S CREDENTIALS.

SALUTE OF FIFTEEN GUNS.

AT Government Buildings, Dublin, last Saturday morning, the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of France, Monsieur Pierre Guerlet, presented his letters of credence to the Governor-General of the Irish Free State, Mr. Donal Buckley.

What otherwise might have been a colourless formality was made a bright and spectacular ceremony through the presence, as escort to the French Minister, of a troop of Free State cavalry clad in the attractive St. Patrick's blue and gold uniforms which were introduced for the Eucharistic Congress last June. It was undoubtedly the prospect of seeing the "Irish Hussars" that attracted the majority of the five to six hundred people who thronged the footpaths in Merrion street from soon after 11 o'clock, and greeted at 11.35 a.m. the appearance of the first file of cavalry as, with drawn swords, it swung into view from Merrion square, North.

DIPLOMATIC DRESS.

Soon after 11 o'clock the Governor-General and Mr. de Valera, both in lounge suits, had arrived at Government Buildings. When the motor cars conveying M. Guerlet and the French Consul in Dublin, M. Vacher Corbière, drew up opposite the steps of the building it was seen that diplomatic dress, liberally splashed with gold and red, was worn by the representatives of the French Republic, while Mr. Sean Murphy, Assistant Secretary to the Free State Department of External Affairs, who accompanied M. Guerlet in the first car, and Mr. J. J. Hearn, Legal Adviser to the Department of External Affairs, who was with M. Corbière in the second car, wore morning dress.

The party of four were conducted by Mr. Michael McDunphy, Assistant Secretary of the Executive Council, to the Council Chamber, where letters of credence were presented. Less than a quarter of an hour after his arrival the French Minister departed. He was accompanied to the steps by Mr. de Valera. The cavalry, which in the meantime had drawn up facing the building, presented arms, while a trumpeter sounded a salute. All orders to the troops were given in Irish. Cheers were raised as the motor cars drove off and turned into Baggot street, accompanied by their smart escort.

SALUTE UNHEARD.

While the presentation of credentials was taking place a salute of fifteen guns was fired at Kilmainham in honour of the French Minister, but the reverberations could not be heard at Merrion street.

The crowd quickly melted, and when Mr. Buckley left Government Buildings, ten minutes after the French Minister, he passed out unnoticed except by the doorkeeper and a Civic Guard on duty there.

In the afternoon formal calls between the French Minister and Mr. de Valera, in his capacity as Minister for External Affairs, were exchanged.

FRENCH MINISTER'S ADDRESS.

Monsieur Guerlet delivered the letters of recall of his predecessor, Monsieur Charles Alphand. He then presented his own Letters of Credence as Minister of France. In making the presentation of the letters of recall, he said:—

"Monsieur le Gouverneur Général,—I have the honour to deliver to Your Excellency the letters whereby the President of the French Republic terminates the mission of M. Charles Alphand as Minister of France at Dublin. My predecessor would have considered it his duty to take leave of Your Excellency in person, if he had not been prevented from doing so by his state of health.

"Monsieur le Gouverneur Général, I have the honour to deliver to Your Excellency the letters by which the President of the French Republic accredits me as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the French Republic in the Irish Free State. Having already been able to appreciate the value of Irish hospitality, I am as happy as I am proud to see this mission confided to me. In order to fulfil it with profit I shall need the active and benevolent co-operation of the Irish Government, and I am confident that that co-operation will not fail me.

"Moreover, the traditional relations of friendship existing between our two countries render the task of the representative of France both more agreeable and more simple. The French and Irish peoples, who have fought on many occasions side by side on the fields of battle, feel themselves closely united in the same ideal of peace, justice and liberty. They should, therefore, be able to collaborate usefully one with the other in all those domains where their activities are destined to meet. For my part, I shall strive to develop as much as possible their economic, intellectual and artistic relations in such a way as to favour both their material interests and their mutual understanding of one another.

"Permit me to express to Your Excellency the sincere good wishes that I feel for you personally and for the prosperity of the Irish Free State."

MR. BUCKLEY'S REPLY.

The Governor-General replied, first in Irish and then in English, as follows:—

"Mr. Minister,—I have the honour to receive from you the letters by which the President of the French Republic recalls M. Alphand from his post of Minister of France at Dublin. I am glad to know that His Excellency the President has chosen M. Alphand for a very important mission in the diplomatic service of his country. I regret that M. Alphand's state of health has not permitted him to take leave in person, and I would be grateful if you would convey to him my own good wishes and those of the Government of the Irish Free State for his complete restoration to health.

"I am very pleased, indeed, to receive from you the letters by which His Excellency the President of the French Republic accredits you as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the French Republic to the Irish Free State. The traditional friendship of our two countries will, as you have said, make without doubt your task as Representative of France agreeable and easy, and the fulfilment of your mission will be made easier still by those friendships and associations which you have already formed during the time in which you have been with us in another capacity. I have, therefore, no need to assure you that you will have the active and sympathetic goodwill of the Irish Government as Minister of France at Dublin.

"Your efforts, Mr. Minister, to advance, as far as possible, the economic, intellectual and cultural relations between our two countries will receive from the Government here the fullest support and co-operation.

"I thank you for your good wishes for myself and the prosperity of Ireland, and I shall be glad if you will convey to His Excellency the President of the French Republic the good wishes of the Government and people of this country, both for His Excellency personally and for the welfare and prosperity of the French Republic. I bid you welcome."

CAPTAIN COPLAND.

ENTERTAINED BY DUBLIN FRIENDS.

Captain Copland, who recently retired from his post of Commodore of the London, Midland and Scottish Company's mail boats operating between Dun Laoghaire and Holyhead, was entertained to dinner by a number of his friends at the North Star Hotel, Dublin, last Saturday night.

The Chairman (Mr. J. J. Glynn) proposed the health of their guest and wished him many happy years of retirement.

In reply, Captain Copland told several stories of his forty-one years at sea, and thanked his hosts for their kindness.

Among those present were:—Dr. Gaffney, Dr. Egan, Dr. Cusack, Dr. Maguire, Captain Doherty, Dr. Bryson, and Messrs. J. Callanan, R. Brassington, R. McDonnell, H. Harris, E. Balfe, P. Donoghue and J. Hannon.

VIENNA: "Rienzi" (Wagner), 6.55.

THE second week of the B.B.C.'s London Musical Festival will consist, like the first, of three Symphony Concerts. The main interest of this second set of concerts is derived from the visit of Koussevitsky, who, while not seen in London for some years past, has long been known as one of the finest conductors of the day. This reputation Koussevitsky won chiefly by his great work with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which he has raised to a high place among the splendid orchestras of the American cities.

Koussevitsky is known to have an unusually wide range of musical interests; while praised for the balance of his readings of the classics, he has shown a keen appreciation of the best modern music of all countries. For the concerts which he is to conduct this week he has chosen three programmes of well varied interest.

To-night we are to get three symphonies. Prokofiev's Symphonie Classique is a fairly short work; the Seventh Symphony of Sibelius is still shorter, being in one movement and almost certainly the most concise work ever written under the name of symphony. These two works together form the first part of the concert. In the second we have Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E minor, the symphony which Mengelberg conducted in Dublin a few years ago.

The Philco sponsored hour from Athlone will consist of a recital by the Free State Army No. 1 Band.

FEIS CEOIL WINNERS.

THEATRE ROYAL CONCERT.

A WELL-ARRANGED PROGRAMME.

THERE was the usual large attendance at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, last Saturday afternoon for the concert by the prize-winners at the Feis Ceoil. One must commend the discretion shown by the Committee in limiting the programme to about twenty items, thanks to which there was a compact, enjoyable concert instead of the long-drawn-out parade of prize-winners that was seen in previous years. While on this subject of the work of the Feis Ceoil Committee one would like to pay tribute to the perfect organisation and the work of the officials, particularly the Hon. Secretary, Miss Alice Griffith, and the Registrar, Miss Edith Mortier, who were self-denying almost to the point of effacement so far as hearing any of the competitions, but were at the beck and call of everybody and helped to smooth out all sorts of difficulties. Very largely due to their guidance the time-table worked out very well indeed, there being only a very slight loss of time during a very strenuous week.

The programme on Saturday was a nice blend of vocal and instrumental music, though the absence of string ensemble was noticeable. That, however, was due to the illness of Miss Dorothy Stokes, who was to have conducted the prize-winning string orchestra. She was obviously anything but well during the week although she carried on as official accompanist, but on Saturday she was unable to leave her room. Her musical admirers will wish her a quick restoration to good health.

FINE SINGING.

The concert started with some very expressive playing by the brothers Charles J. and Patrick J. Brennan of the Delius duet for piano, "Song before Sunrise." Later Miss Una Kenny played with delicate, gossamer-like touch the Esposito "Remembrance," as a contrast to which there was some fine vigour and pulsating warmth in Miss Marie Mulcahy's playing of Variations on a Hungarian Theme by Brahms. The Harty Cup winner for piano concerto, Miss Joan Trimble, played one movement of the Mozart Concerto in D, and had at the second piano Mr. Freddy Stone, who stepped in to take the place of Miss Stokes at a moment's notice. Miss Joan Trimble was also heard with her sister, Valerie, as winners of the 'cello and piano duet.

Mr. Clifford E. Bradshaw, winner of the Gervase Elwes Cup, again impressed his hearers with his singing of the John Ireland song, "I have twelve oxen," and his great rival of the week, Mr. Robert McCullagh, sang with fine voice and appeal the Siegmund Love Song, for which he had won the Joseph O'Mara Cup. Again one agreed with the adjudicator's remark that this was a high baritone rather than tenor voice. It was, however, excellent singing.

Of other cup winners, Miss Dorothy Griffith, winner of the Plunket Greene Cup and joint winner of the Dramatic Cup, gave a beautiful rendering of Die Junge Nonne; and Miss Kathleen Moore sang with moving appeal the Verdi aria, "May Laurels Crown thy Brow," though the voice sounded light in the big theatre. One of the most enjoyable items of the afternoon was the singing of "Love Eternal" by Miss Mary Dempster O'Neill, winner of the Brahms Centenary Prize. One liked very much also the light lilting voice of the Denis O'Sullivan Memorial Medal winner, Miss Lily Coates, though she rather let her feelings run away with her in the last verse, which was over-sentimentalised. It was gratifying to see the Townsend Cup winner for song to own harp accompaniment brought into the programme. Miss Maureen O'Shea sang her song "Sile," with lovely atmosphere in the best traditional style. It was a nice contrast to the work of the Wallis Cup winner, Miss Madge Bradbury, who has such a delightful style in her songs, to her own pianoforte accompaniment. Other winners heard were Miss Aine Ni Conaill, winner of the McCall Cup for Irish traditional singing, who sang unaccompanied; Mr. William Fitzpatrick, baritone gold medal; Sydney A. Giltrap, contralto gold medal; and the winners of the ladies' duet, Eileen Clancy and Olive McHugh.

THE VALKYRIES.

On the instrumental side a novelty was the playing of the winner of the Clarinet solo, Matthew Halpin. Some splendid ensemble work was heard from the Misses Sheila Brough and May Johnson, winners of the violin and piano duet.

With a specially set stage, one could appreciate even much better than in the competition the singing of Miss Patricia Black, joint winner of the Dramatic Cup. She gave a very moving rendering of the aria, "O Don Fatale," from Verdi's "Don Carlos." She is a singer of rare promise, with probably the most outstanding voice heard during the week.

Again, the audience were thrilled with a stirring rendering of the music of "The Valkyries," with Miss Renée Flynn dominating the scene with her wonderful singing of the Brunnhilde music. It was a magnificent performance, and richly deserved the storm of applause with which the audience greeted the singers and the accompanist, whom they insisted on calling before the curtain. The group taking part were: Renée Flynn, Eileen Gunning, Dorothy Griffith, Mabel Thrift, Elizabeth O'Farrell, Agnes O'Kelly, Kathleen Moore, Eva Tomsohn, Jean Thompson, and the accompanist, Miss Eileen Buckley. The last-named had quite a strenuous afternoon as accompanist.

PLOTHOLDERS' UNION.

ANNUAL MEETING IN DUBLIN.

ALLOTMENTS FOR UNEMPLOYED.

THE twelfth annual congress of the United Irish Plotholders' Union took place in the Engineers' Hall, Gardiners Row, Dublin, yesterday.

Mr. Thomas Shaw, president, who presided, said that solid utility of the plot-holding movement had been found worthy of recognition by the Free State Government, and their co-operation sought in furtherance of the scheme of free allotments for unemployed workmen in Dublin. He congratulated the Executive on this well-merited recognition.

Mr. Shaw drew attention to the action of their North Dublin branch in placing a substantial portion of their allotment at the disposal of the Government in the interests of nearly one hundred unemployed. They also thanked the Government for extending the grant under the original scheme, by means of which fifty plots were allocated to the unemployed in the Crumlin area. They also recognised the sympathetic co-operation of the Dublin Municipal Council and the personal services of the Assistant Town Clerk.

The action of Messrs. Jacob in defraying half the rent of allotments for some twenty of their unemployed workmen was an object lesson to other employers.

NO BOND OF UNION.

They had succeeded in 1926 in getting allotment legislation passed by the Oireachtas, known as the Acquisition of Lands (Allotments) Act, under which several of the allotment areas were administered. Although there must be at least 20,000 plotholders in provincial associations throughout the State, there was virtually no bond of union between them and the central organisation. He appealed to every association of plotholders in the Free State to become affiliated branches of the United Irish Plotholders' Union. In the plotholding movement they had a means by which they could co-operate with the Government in the work of bringing the people back to the land.

The Secretary (Mr. Denis McDonnell) in the course of his report, stated that, although two areas were acquired under the Allotments Act, the membership of the Union was about the same as last year—viz., 800. This was due to the fact that, despite the Union's efforts, 33½ acres were taken from the plotholders at Islandbridge for the purpose of a War Memorial Park. Two acres had been acquired under the Allotments Act at Ballymun road, Glasnevin, and Dark lanes, Crumlin, the former accommodating close on two hundred plotholders and the latter sixty-six. The avidity with which the unemployed applied for plots was a proof that the Dublin workers were not work-shy, there being three applications for every plot available.

A DRAWBACK.

One drawback attaching to the scheme was the distance to the plots and the inability of the unemployed to find the fares to travel. It was submitted that the difficulty could be overcome by reduced fares thereon on the production of a membership card. The Union had repeatedly approached the Tramway and 'bus companies without any tangible result.

The statement of accounts showed a credit balance of £14 8s. 2d.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mr. Owen, seconded by Mr. Corbally.

Mr. Shaw was unanimously re-elected President.

The amendment of the constitution was referred to the Executive Committee in view of the extension of the movement to provide allotments for the unemployed.

NON-STOP CAR ACCIDENT.

TWO MEN AND GIRL INJURED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LISTOWEL, Sunday.

A serious motor accident took place on the Listowel to Ballybunion road, about half a mile from the former town, at about 11 o'clock last night, when a girl and two young men were knocked down by a motor car, the driver of which, it is alleged, turned immediately and drove back without stopping to render aid or report the accident.

The victims were: Patrick Walsh (30), William street, Listowel; Michael Griffin (29), Derrila, Listowel, and Miss Madge Fitzmaurice. They had been chatting at the entrance to a house when they were struck by the car. The two men were knocked down, and the girl was dragged some distance by the car. A boy named Moloney, who had been with them, escaped, but his greyhound was run over and killed.

Miss Fitzmaurice was seriously injured about the head. Griffin and Walsh were also badly hurt. All three were taken to the Listowel district hospital.

MISSIONARY WORK.

BISHOP'S APPEAL FOR HELP.

The Bishop of Ossory, preaching in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, yesterday morning, referred to the greater need for missionary work, and said that almost more important than educational work was the work of evangelism which was being carried on in the cities and villages of India, China and Japan. It was estimated that more than 12,000 people were baptised in India every month, and these were not only low caste people. The caste barrier now was being broken down, and caste people were coming with the outcastes in hundreds into the fold. He made an appeal for greater help for missionary work. It should be a first endeavour to stir up interest in the work that the Church was doing wherever missionaries were working. He could say from his own experience as a missionary that the missionaries overseas looked to the Mother Church for sympathy and help with just the same eagerness with which St. Paul looked to his friends and converts at Thessalonica. The Mother Church could give the needed help, comfort and encouragement to the workers abroad. That meant a great deal to them in days of difficulties and trial.

The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel had been working for over 230 years. For centuries Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotsmen had been exploring new regions of the earth, cultivating the land, developing new industries, building new cities, making new nations, and the Society had gone with them, helping them in hours of difficulty and temptation, and striving to keep them in touch with Christ and His Church.

MISSIONARY WORK.

BISHOP'S APPEAL FOR HELP.

The Assistant Bishop of Oxford, preaching at St. Ann's Church, Dawson street, Dublin, last evening on the work of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, said that the clash between the world races would present a problem of the greatest importance to the Church, and one which it must by increased effort overcome. Missionaries, as well as providing for the spiritual welfare of the people whom they set out to convert, brought new and improved ideas to the darker continents, and now they saw natives being educated in the uses of machinery.

A GERMAN FILM OF INDUSTRY.

THE SECRET OF ITS SUCCESS.

FROM OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

THE German film on the peat industry (which was exhibited privately at the Camden street Picture House, Dublin, on Saturday last, and is reported in another column), is an example of the sort of pictures we should be making ourselves in Ireland. Not that the film is perfect—it is far too long, for one thing, and the material is not arranged to the best advantage—but its general idea is one which is well worth copying.

It deals with the development of the turf bogs in Northern Germany, the building of a factory there, and the various ways in which the work is carried on. Films of industry are not a new thing, but as a rule they are so deplorably dull that fifteen minutes of them are more than enough. This picture goes on for well over an hour, and it is not until near the end that one finds one's interest beginning to slack.

The secret of the film's success is twofold—it is intelligently photographed and the human interest is maintained. If the cameraman wants to show us such an apparently prosaic sight as an engine pulling trucks along the rails, he gives it from an interesting or unexpected angle; if he wants to show bogland being reclaimed he takes care that there shall be picturesque clouds in the background. He intersperses his shots with little pictures of the peasants having their lunch or children going home from school, and gives us glimpses of the animal and bird life of the district; so that we forget that his primary object is to advertise peat, and begin to take an almost personal interest in the place.

OPPORTUNITIES IN IRELAND.

There is no reason why these subjects should not be made interesting, and there is no reason either, why they should not be so treated by native producers. In Ireland we have not the money for expensive studios and first-class actors, but this kind of work needs no more than a camera and a certain amount of intelligence. It is a thing, too, which might well be sponsored by the Government; for its propaganda value would be great.

There are a number of things which one could suggest as proper subjects for this kind of treatment. The Sea Fisheries' Association, for example, offers a wealth of material—we could be shown not only the catching and marketing of the fish, but the lives of the fishermen, the best methods of trawling and the advantages of modern boats, and the audience would learn almost without knowing that a lesson was being taught. The Electricity Supply Board could advertise itself in the same way, which could also be used to encourage fruit-growing, tillage, or anything else that was thought desirable.

The thing would be a mere waste of money unless it was done really well. The shots of factory life which we see on the news reels are a warning in themselves. But to follow the example of the Russian and German propagandists ought to be possible for us, and it badly needs to be done.

The cinema seems to be destined (or, as some say, doomed) to become more and more naturalistic. Colour was discussed in this column last week, and a few days ago came the news of an invention for producing a stereoscopic image. The inventor, Dr. Herbert Ives, has employed a special screen consisting of thin glass rods, the effect being that the objects shown seem to be solid. More curious still is the fact that people sitting at the side of the screen can observe the side of the image's head, while those in front see it full face. However, it will, probably, be some years before any device of this sort can be made a commercial success.

AROUND THE CINEMAS.

At the Savoy this week Ramon Novarro appears in "The Impossible Lover," an apt title. Born of poor, but honest, parents, he gets a scholarship to Yale, becomes the star in the college football team, and finally, after a number of vicissitudes, marries a beautiful and wealthy girl.

The Grafton is continuing its run of "Yes, Mr. Brown," a musical comedy film, in which Jack Buchanan is the principal actor. Elsie Randolph and Margot Grahame also appear.

Janet Gaynor and Charless Farrell appear in another joint effort at the Metropole, where "Tess of the Storm Country" is being shown. This time Janet is the skipper's daughter, and Farrell is the rich young man with whom—inevitably— she falls in love.

Jack Holt appears as an American detective in the Corinthian film, "Man Against Woman." The supporting picture is "Treason," in which Buck Jones has the chief part.

The Grand Central is showing "Nine Till Six," a story which deals with shop life, and in which Louise Hampton, Elizabeth Allan and Richard Bird appear. There is also a Western picture, "Renegades of the West" (with Tom Keene, Betty Furness and Roscoe Ates), and "The Voice of the Vatican."

For the first part of the week the Sackville is presenting Junior Durkin and Bette Davis in "Hell's House." From Thursday onwards the principal film will be "The Midnight Patrol," Mary Nolan and Regis Toomey having the chief parts.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the Pavilion, Dun Laoghaire, is showing a very fine picture of war in the Austrian Alps, "The Doomed Battalion." Tala Birell and Luis Trenker each give an excellent performance, and the general level of the film is above the average. For the rest of the week Harry Welchman appears in "The Maid of the Mountains," a screen version of the musical comedy.

"The Flag Lieutenant," at the Capitol, is adapted from the play of that name, with Henry Edwards and Anna Neagle in the leading parts. Both acting and production are rather below par.

In 1901 he transferred from the Lancashire Fusiliers to the Irish Guards, and to the Life Guards two years later. After the war he became for a time Colonel-Commandant of the Staff of the Military Adviser to the Northern Ireland Government.

BELFAST ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.

FINE PERFORMANCES.

An announcement was made at the orchestral concert in the Ulster Hall, Belfast, on Saturday night that the distinguished musician, Sir Henry Wood, is suffering from pleurisy, and will, therefore, be unable to fulfil his engagement as guest-conductor at a special concert in the city on 27th inst. Sir Henry is very popular in the North, and the intimation has been received with general regret.

The instrumental numbers were supplied by the Belfast Wireless Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. E. Godfrey Brown, and the soloists were Mr. Dennis Noble, a very fine baritone, with the gift of interpretation, and Mr. Harry Dyson, a well-known and popular flautist. The most important composition performed was the Prelude to "Parcifal" (Wagner), the mystery and solemnity of the exquisite music being expressed with fidelity to its atmosphere. Perhaps the setting of a cathedral is the most suitable to this, the last and greatest work of Wagner, with its legend of the Holy Grail.

A remarkable tone-poem by Richard Strauss, "Don Quixote," Op. 35, was also performed. It describes the extravagantly romantic exploits of the famous knight-errant in his tilting against windmills mistaking them for giants, and charging a flock of sheep in the belief that they are something fearsome, as well as other ridiculous episodes engaged in by the legendary hero. The music is realistic, but sometimes a trifle wearisome. The 'cello solo part was taken by Miss Marjorie Brown, a daughter of the conductor, in the absence of Mr. Gethyn Wykeham George, who was indisposed, and the part was played with skill and understanding. The viola solos by a member of the orchestra were also a feature of the rendering. The performance was vivid in its tonal expression of the various episodes.

The other orchestral numbers included the "Saltarello" movement from what is known as the "Italian" Symphony No. 4 in A, Op. 90, by Mendelssohn. It represents a favourite dance rhythm in Italy combined with a whirling tarantella, and it was played with fine effect. A delightful item was Paderewski's "Minuet in G," orchestrated by Sir Henry Wood, and its delicate construction and charm and daintiness were subtly conveyed in delicate expression. Selections were also given from works by Tchaikowsky (the "1812" Overture), and Wagner's Tannhäuser (Prelude to Act III.), both of which displayed the skill of the orchestra.

Songs were sung by Mr. Noble, two of them being with orchestral accompaniment, while he also sang a group by Liszt and Purcell. He is an artistic singer, with a voice of great power and extended upward range, and his control of the mezza voce is excellent. Mr. Dyson played flute solos with distinction, and was clamantly recalled for his expert and expressive rendering of the "Carnival of Venice." The pianoforte accompaniments were in the capable hands of Mr. Clifton Helliwell.

The returns up till Saturday night in the referendum, which is being held regarding the reform of the New South Wales Legislative Council (the Upper Chamber) show that 635,667 votes have been cast in favour of reform and 614,746 against.

"FUTILE ECONOMIC POLICY."

NATIONAL TEACHERS' PROTEST.

At a largely attended meeting of the Dublin City Branch of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation the following resolution was passed unanimously:—

"That we protest against the unfair and discriminating attack on the salaries of national teachers under the Economies Bill.

"That we regard wage-cutting as a direct confession of obsolete and futile economic policy calculated to hinder industrial development, and to aggravate, rather than to remedy, the economic ills of the Free State.

"We call on all organised labour to show a united fighting front against this attack on the standard of living, and we pledge our support in any concerted action they may decide upon to maintain the present wage standards."

Disillusionment.

At a score of political meetings during the week's end President de Valera's policy, or lack of policy, was scrutinised from every possible angle, and very little favour was found in it. Even the former allies of Fianna Fáil have lost whatever faith they once had. Mr. Davin, speaking at Tullamore, revealed the extent of the Labour Party's disillusionment. We have no more sympathy with the Labour Party than with the programme of Mr. de Valera, but we can appreciate the bitterness of men who, having helped Mr. de Valera into power on the understanding that he would abolish the iniquities of unemployment and low wages, discover too late that all classes—and, in particular, the working classes—have been plunged by their action into the deeps of misery. A cry of resentment is arising to-day from every section of the people. The farmers have been the first to suffer, and, as yet, they have touched merely the fringe of their calamities. Quite apart from the blow that Mr. de Valera's projected Land Bill will strike at their rights of tenure, they must reconcile themselves to the knowledge that every day increases their financial loss. Their prosperity now is only half what it was a year ago; in another few months it will be only half of what it is to-day. Thus far Mr. de Valera has tried to keep their waning hopes alive by means of his complicated system of bounties. Now that system, which never had much prospect of success, is being appreciated at its proper value; the farmers have realised that what it gives them in compensation for their losses on the British market it takes away from them in the form of increased rates and increased taxation.

As a speaker declared at a meeting of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, the situation is worse now than it was in the days of the Land League. Few people will question the statement; and they will gain little consolation from the thought that, while the Land League had a positive end in view, not even President de Valera can foresee any profitable issue of his present schemes. The prospect which faces the Free State is forbidding. So long as Mr. de Valera refuses to conform to the ordinary canons of international and inter-imperial ethics, so long the economic war must maintain an increasing pressure upon every element of the Free State's life. Not only the farmers are being crushed out of existence. A degree of income tax, which is out of all proportion to the nation's standard of living, forbids that industrial development which, as Mr. de Valera hopes, will replace the old and well-tried economy. For all the numerous tariffs which have been imposed on imports, the revenue returns are declining as the wealth of the people declines. As if Messrs. de Valera and MacEntee were not content with the hardship caused by their excesses of taxation, they even have disregarded all their election promises, and have reduced the salaries of public servants. Shopkeepers—the surest index to national prosperity—complain that "the money is not what it used to be." How could things be otherwise, when the money that ought to keep industry alive is taken by the Government to bolster up a completely false and artificial system of economics?

The facts are, as everyone—including the Government—has discovered long ago, that the whole economy of the Free State to-day is based upon makeshifts. Fianna Fáil has disrupted a system which, if it did not work perfectly, at least shielded the twenty-six counties from the blasts of the world depression, and preserved a reasonably high standard of prosperity. It has put nothing in the place of that system, but has made attempts to cope with every successive danger as it arises. President de Valera and his companions to-day are not governing; they merely are feeling their way. Accordingly as the economic war attacks some new quarter of Irish welfare, they try to allay the growing discontent by this concession and that concession, refusing to admit that the whole trouble could be abolished in a fortnight by an honourable agreement with England. Sooner or later they will be forced by the growing weight of public opinion and the grind of national poverty to come to terms. Every day of the economic war deprives the Free State of a chance to recover her old position in the British market; while she stands aloof, other nations—the latest are Norway and Sweden—are acquiring the advantages that used to be hers. President de Valera must swallow his pride before it is too late. If he refuses, he will not be the first stiff-necked ruler to destroy his people. The Book of Exodus makes mention of a certain Pharaoh of Egypt.

President Roosevelt's Chance.

Dr. Schacht's return from Washington to Europe brings to an end the series of talks between President Roosevelt and representatives of the debtor nations on the well-worn subject of War debts. The executive authority in the United States now is au fait with the attitude of all the European Powers. President Roosevelt is known to have a certain amount of sympathy with their point of view, but, without the consent of Congress, his powers are limited severely. During the last few days there has been a persistent rumour that he did not propose to ask Congress for any special authority, either to grant a moratorium to the United States' debtors, or even to make certain re-adjustments in the existing methods of payment; but a Reuter message from Washington refutes this statement. Nevertheless, it is fairly certain that President Roosevelt is not at all satisfied with the result of his recent conversations in Washington, mainly because France has taken up a difficult attitude. M. Herriot, who represented the French Government in Washington, was pressed to pay last December's instalment of the French debt—some £6,000,000—pending the consideration of a general moratorium, on the ground that, with one nation already in default, Congress would be unwilling to make any substantial concessions. It seems, however, that the French will not agree to this proposal unless they are given a definite guarantee by President Roosevelt that a moratorium will be granted; and, naturally enough, the President does not wish to tie his hands. In the view of the Americans everything depends on disarmament. For that reason President Roosevelt is hesitating to take action in respect of the War debts until some concrete results are produced by the Disarmament Conference, and he is watching closely the trend of events at Geneva. Congress at the moment is not inclined to be generous to the European Powers, and is particularly loth to facilitate and is particularly loth to facilitate France. It is quite possible, therefore, that President Roosevelt will bide his time until the Geneva Conference has reached some decision, and that the American delegates will take part in the Economic Conference next month before anything has been settled concerning War debts. We are convinced that the London Conference can have little hope of real success unless, and until, the War debt problem is out of the way. The world's economic plight is involved inextricably in the tangle of War debts. To a large extent, indeed, the efforts of the debtor States to meet their American obligations have been the cause of the trouble; and any attempt to restore economic stability without a previous solution of the debt question would be preposterous.

The Sporting Spirit.

Last Saturday an English international football team drew with Italy at Rome. There was a time not so very long ago when a third-rate team of Association footballers from England could have defeated easily the pick of the continental players; but that time has gone. "Soccer" has spread like wild-fire throughout Europe. Even in the eastern part of the Continent the game has become exceedingly popular; but the professional system is so widespread that it has almost ceased to be a game in the British sense of the word. Football, particularly in the Latin countries, is taken au grand sérieux. Matches are fought like minor wars, and occasionally the assistance of the police must be invoked to prevent riotous disturbances. On Saturday interest in the Anglo-Italian match was so great that Signor Mussolini was present to watch his national team in action. It seems to have been a very good game; but the spectators did not concur entirely in the referee's decisions, and they made noisy demonstrations against one of the English players whose tactics did not please them. Since the War the whole spirit of sport throughout the world seems to have been contaminated. Even cricket, formerly finest of all sporting games, has fallen from its high estate, and after the recent performances in Australia one almost must despair. Rugby football in these islands continues to flourish, untouched by the blight that has fallen on other games; but in France it has become a regular business. Much of the deterioration in sport must be attributed to the influence of the popular Press, which has magnified out of all proportion the importance of games. In this way incalculable harm has been done, and the days when a game was played for its own sake, irrespective of results, seem to have vanished for ever.

Ireland in Spring.

Ireland has many charms, but none is more attractive than her incalculable climate. On Saturday a pitiless downpour of rain drenched Dublin from an early hour in the morning until late at night. Golfers, who had been looking forward for a week to their afternoon game, either were forced to sulk in club-houses or to run the risk of pneumonia by defiance of the elements; and tennis players, seeing no chance of a game, probably sought refuge in the "pictures." Then the weather changed its mind—with the result that yesterday was a "pet" day. On such a day Ireland is at her loveliest, and the country within a radius of fifty miles of Dublin offered a picture that hardly could be equalled in Europe, and certainly could not be surpassed anywhere. County Wicklow gave the impression of one huge garden, with its glorious rhododendrons, its flaming gorse and its bewildering variety of trees. The quiet hills, with their delicate contours, made a perfect background, while the motionless sea reminded the wayfarer of the Mediterranean rather than of St. George's Channel. Ireland in the Spring is a country of enchantment. The hedgerows are ablaze with primroses; the woods are carpeted with bluebells and wild orchids. On a day like yesterday the poorest soul could not but rejoice in the beauty of our Irish countryside, forgetting the gloomy preoccupations of our times, and steeping itself in the joy of sunshine. To-morrow it may rain again; but who cares? We prefer to indulge ourselves in the foolish hope that Spring has come to stay, and that even yesterday's glories will be eclipsed by a cloudless Summer.

EXTENSION OF BOUNTIES.

MANUFACTURERS TO BENEFIT.

STATEMENT BY MR. LEMASS.

THE Free State Minister for Industry and Commerce (Mr. Lemass) gives notice that he will be prepared to consider applications for export bounties in respect of duties levied in Great Britain or Northern Ireland on or after June 1st under the British Import Duties Act, 1932, on goods falling within any of the following categories which are shown to have been manufactured or produced in Saorstat Eireann. This notice is to be regarded as superseding existing arrangements from June 1st next, but claims will be received for payments under the existing arrangements in regard to goods exported on or before May 31st.

The revised arrangement will remain in operation in respect of exports up to and including March 31st, 1934:—

Mine and quarry products, linen and cotton piece goods and manufactures, woollen and worsted manufactures, feathers and curled hair, blacking and polishes, shirts, collars and hosiery, horticultural and nursery goods.

POTATOES.

The Free State Department of Agriculture announce that the bounty on main crop potatoes has been increased to 40s. per ton in the case of potatoes grown in scheduled districts and to 37s. 6d. per ton in the case of potatoes grown in other districts.

These increases come into operation to-day.

This increase in the bounty is expected to counteract the increase in the duty on potatoes imported into Great Britain and Northern Ireland from £1 to £2 per ton, which came into force on May 5th.

THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

VISIT OF THE KING AND QUEEN.

The King and Queen visited the Royal Academy in London on Saturday. They drove from Buckingham Palace to Burlington House, arriving just before three o'clock, to be greeted with cheers from a great crowd which had gathered on both sides of the road in Piccadilly. The King, who was looking remarkably well after his recent attack of rheumatism, repeatedly raised his hat and smiled.

The King was welcomed by Sir William Llewellyn, President of the Royal Academy; Mr. Sydney Lee, Treasurer, and Mr. Walter Russell, Keeper. Princess Marie Louise (the King's cousin), the Marquis and Marchioness of Carisbrooke, Lady Patricia Ramsay and her husband, Rear-Admiral the Hon. Sir Alexander Ramsay were with the King and Queen, and the party included many members of the King's Household.

MOTOR GLIDER FALLS.

WELL-KNOWN EXPERT KILLED.

Mr. C. H. Lowe-Wilde, the well-known air gliding expert, was killed on Saturday night, when a light aeroplane that he was piloting crashed at Maidstone. The accident happened at Maidstone Air Port, West Malling, while Mr. Lowe-Wilde was demonstrating a new motor glider.

He had been circling round the aerodrome for twenty minutes when suddenly the machine appeared to slip at a height of about 400 feet, and it crashed wing first to the ground.

Members of the Maidstone Flying School, who were watching the flight, rushed to the scene to render aid, but Mr. Lowe-Wilde had been instantly killed.

The machine was one of the latest developments in gliding, and was invented by Mr. Lowe-Wilde. It was fitted with a 8 h.p. engine above the fuselage, and was of the type which has become known as the "motor-cycle of the air," not only because of its small power, but because of its low running cost.

Mr. Lowe-Wilde was a native of Newcastle-on-Tyne, and he was thirty-two years of age. After serving his apprenticeship with Sir W. G. Armstrong-Whitworth and Company, Ltd., he did duty as Technical Instructor in the R.A.F. At the time of his death he was managing director of British Aircraft Company, Maidstone, manufacturers of gliders.

BRITISH TRADE WITH SPAIN.

MADRID DECISION TO BUY MORE.

Britain, which imports more Spanish products than any other country, will probably benefit by a new decree establishing that Spain should buy from the nations buying from her.

The Government is authorised to reciprocate purchases from countries with which Spain's balance of trade is favourable.

Great Britain's imports from Spain in 1931, the last year for which official figures are available, amounted to 237,021,683 gold pesetas (approximately £9,900,000), and Spain's imports from Great Britain totalled about half that amount.

DISTINGUISHED INVALIDS.

LADY CYNTHIA MOSLEY.

It was stated yesterday that Lady Cynthia Mosley, who was recently operated on for appendicitis in a London nursing home, was very weak, and that her condition was still very serious.

SIR HALLEY STEWART.

Sir Halley Stewart, who is seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia at his home at Harpenden, was stated yesterday to have passed a restless night and to be a little weaker.

A MUSK RAT ORDER.

Although no musk rats have been reported in any part of Northern Ireland, an Order has been made under the Destructive Imported Animals Act (Northern Ireland), 1933, prohibiting the importation into, or keeping in, Northern Ireland of the musk rat or musquash. The Order provides for the destruction of any musk rats that may be found at large, or which are being illegally kept, and heavy penalties are prescribed for breaches of the legislation.

In the Irish Free State the appearance of the musk rat has been reported from several places, and a number have been killed, but no Order concerning them has yet been issued by the Minister for Agriculture.

NEUTRALITY IN GRAN CHACO WAR.

Decrees declaring the neutrality of Chile and the Argentine in the war between Paraguay and Bolivia have been promulgated.

LONDON LETTER.

THE DANGER FROM DANZIG.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

The outlook on the Continent is exceedingly grave, and many members of the British Government are looking with anxiety to the outcome of the next few days. The Nazi developments at Danzig are not likely to lead to any great trouble in themselves, but there is danger lest the Poles may feel that they must intervene. It is thought in diplomatic circles to-day that this danger is likely to be averted by timely action by the League of Nations, either through its Commissioner on the spot or by other methods. That Herr Hitler will do anything likely to lead to hostilities is not expected for one moment. He is much too busy getting his house in order, and for the time being has gained his objective in Danzig by disbanding the trade unions. Danzig, however, cannot be regarded as anything but a danger spot so long as it remains the bone of contention between German and Pole—even if the League of Nations should send troops to control it.

More Trade Agreements.

Questions of trade and finance will interest the House of Commons this week. The President of the Board of Trade has two more trade agreements to announce—one with Norway and the other with Sweden—and it is said that ratification of these agreements will interfere in no way with the tariff truce agreement decided upon last Friday by the organising committee of the World Economic Conference. It is understood that each agreement will consist of two schedules: the first will contain a pledge that this country will lower duties and will permit of the free entry of goods where it is possible, while the other contracting nation will pledge itself in a similar manner. The agreements will be of a somewhat similar character to those concluded with the Argentine, Germany and Denmark, but it is not expected that there will be anything like the same opposition in the House of Commons to their acceptance. The range of commodities in the agreements is wide, and somewhat similar in each case, since the interests of Norway and Sweden in this country are almost alike. Another trade agreement is being negotiated now with Finland.

Mr. de Valera for London.

It is suggested that, when Mr. de Valera comes to London for the World Economic Conference, an opportunity will be arranged outside the proceedings for some informal talks between Mr. de Valera, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Lansbury on the relations between Great Britain and the Free State. The rumour, possibly, arises out of the intimation that Mr. de Valera will attend the Conference; but, at the same time, very few people here are really satisfied with the present position of affairs, and many would welcome a settlement of outstanding questions by a policy of "give-and-take" on both sides. It is rather remarkable that the name of Mr. J. H. Thomas is not mentioned in the rumour, but on this point it is generally appreciated that the negotiations of the past have been conducted in circumstances scarcely likely to promote the happiest of understandings.

Germany and Disarmament.

The postponement of the General Commission at the Disarmament Conference at Geneva until Thursday has greatly eased a situation which was fast becoming dangerous; but there seems to be little hope that the situation will be improved when the Conference meets again. Herr Hitler's forthcoming speech on foreign affairs to the Reichstag on Wednesday may be of a somewhat conciliatory character, but whether he will make matters easier for the Disarmament Conference is regarded as doubtful. The speech may prove to be nothing but a declaration that Germany intends to rearm, no matter what the consequences may be. It is hoped, however, that the German Chancellor has been impressed by the speech of Lord Hailsham in the House of Lords on Thursday, and will be content to agree to disarmament if other nations will do likewise.

The French Airways.

There is a proposal in France that all her air lines shall be amalgamated into a single air company. Efforts have been made to encourage the different companies to join forces of their own accord, but this hope has not materialised, and legislation is now suggested to bring about a fusion. All the French air lines receive considerable subsidies from the State, which are much greater than the profits obtained from their commercial operations. In the case of the Aeropostale, the subsidy of 80,000,000 francs compares with receipts of 28,000,000 francs, while the Air Union receives a subsidy of 32,000,000 francs, against receipts of 13,000,000 francs. The combined French company would operate like Imperial Airways in this country and similar concerns in Germany and Switzerland, where there are national airway undertakings.

Rust-Resisting Wheat.

The momentous announcement that a new rust-resisting wheat of high quality and good yielding ability is available for propagation by farmers is confidently expected within the next two or three years. This statement, made recently by Mr. L. H. Newman, Dominion of Canada cerealist, indicates to what length research work by plant-breeders has been reached in solving one of the Canadian wheat farmer's greatest problems. While the creation of an early ripening, high-yielding variety of wheat of good quality has been a major objective of the Canadian plant-breeder for many years, more recently he has been grappling with another problem of equal, if not even of greater, importance. This consists in an attempt to combine in one variety the yielding ability and baking quality of such varieties as Marquis with the ability possessed by certain non-bread wheats to resist the attacks of that dread enemy of the wheat grower of Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan—the disease known as wheat-stem rust. Within recent years this disease periodically has ravaged the wheat crop throughout that area, causing damage running into millions.

The Lifeboat Service.

An exhibition organised by the Royal National Lifeboat Institution will be held in the booking hall at the Charing Cross underground station from Thursday next until May 31st. The object is to show the public how the lifeboat service does its work, and the changes which have been made in it since the institution was founded 109 years ago. It will include models showing the development in lifeboat construction from the Original—the first lifeboat, built in 1789, propelled by oars and made buoyant by cork—to the modern motor lifeboat, with its two submergible engines of 60 horse-power each, 160 air-cases, cabin searchlight and line-throwing gun. There will be several working models, and a demonstration model of a self-righting lifeboat. The most interesting items in the equipment of the modern lifeboat will be shown, such as its air-cases, line-throwing gun, searchlight, lifebelts and relieving valves, and parts of the modern lifeboat engine, which is so constructed that it can continue to work when completely submerged.

A WATERFORD GRANT.

Waterford Corporation has been notified of the allocation of a grant of £3,976, to be spent on re-surfacing the city streets with asphalt and concrete, part of the work to be done by direct labour and part by contract. The grant is not conditional on any contribution from the city rate.

GERMAN REPLY TO LORD HAILSHAM.

"FOR WOMEN, MOTHERHOOD: FOR MEN, BATTLE."

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE DEADLOCK.

AWAITING HITLER'S STATEMENT OF POLICY.

"A FOREIGN political ring has been built round us which perfectly resembles that of August, 1914. It would be childish and unworthy of the hour in which we live to shut our eyes to a danger which seems to threaten our national life," declared the German Vice-Chancellor von Papen yesterday, at a demonstration of Nazis and Steel Helmets.

Referring to the convocation of the Reichstag for Wednesday, von Papen continued:—

"The world may then listen and be convinced that a great people, a bearer of an ancient culture, cannot for long be robbed of its vital rights—rights that belong to it according to the Divine order of things exactly in the same way as to the other Powers of the world.

"The War Minister of a foreign Power has recently spoken of sanctions. . . . This War Minister obviously does not know what hypocrisy it is to arouse the League of Nations with sanctions against a Power which is doing no more than fight a moral fight against immoral treaties, while the same League has not taken any measures against Powers who have recourse to weapons and are waging war."

In a remarkable passage von Papen then sought to show that the "fight against Pacifism should not be regarded as equivalent to the will to war."

Pacifism, he said, produced an unwarlike outlook on life, and tried to spread carpets under people's feet. Pacifist literature made out that the men who died on the field of battle died an unnatural death.

"But the battlefield is for a man what motherhood is for a woman. The enjoyment of eternity necessitates the sacrifice of the individual."

INTERNATIONAL TENSION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Sunday.

Following on the sudden departure last night of Herr Nadolny for consultations in Berlin, and the consequent postponement of the discussions of the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference until Thursday, it is now understood that no less than fourteen nations had pressed Mr. Henderson, the chairman, for such an adjournment.

The reason given is that no nation was willing to commit itself or to make any statement on disarmament until the German attitude became known following Herr Hitler's speech in the Reichstag on Wednesday.

The Little-Entente representatives, it is understood, took a leading part in this joint action.

MAKE OR BREAK.

The Germans now have it in their power either to make or break the Conference. It is felt in many quarters that an adjournment will be inevitable, but it depends entirely on the attitude taken by the German Chancellor.

These delays and postponements will, it is feared, defeat Mr. Henderson's hope of reaching a settlement before the opening of the World Economic Conference in London, and the problem will then arise as to whether it will be possible for both Conferences to exist contemporaneously.

Sir John Simon will probably come to Geneva for Thursday's meeting.

There is nothing to indicate that Chancellor Hitler's discourse will be at all conciliatory. Indeed, the circumstances attending the withdrawel of Herr Nadolny tend to suggest that it will be intransigeant, as Germany's whole policy has been in connection with the problem of disarmament.

SPEECH FORECAST.

The warning addressed by Lord Hailsham to the German Government as to the consequences of failure of the Disarmament Conference has brought home to the German people the seriousness of Germany's position, and added weight is given to it by the situation on the Bourse, which is experiencing one set-back after another, says Reuter's Berlin Correspondent.

Official circles regard Lord Hailsham's speech in the House of Lords as far exceeding any attacks made hitherto, and is regarded as significant, inasmuch as it appears to be intended to exert political pressure on Germany.

According to a semi-official statement the Chancellor will, on Wednesday, discuss not only the latest phase of the position at Geneva, but also the Disarmament Conference as a whole.

The foreign political situation, the statement says, needs clearing up, especially in view of the forthcoming World Economic Conference, for uncertainty must be removed before the opening of that Conference if it is to have any success whatever. To obtain this end it is essential that the Disarmament Conference shall produce a visible success.

The statement goes on to reiterate the three main principles of Germany's views on disarmament, which are:—

1—Actual disarmament of other States.

2—Recognition of Germany's claim to equality.

3—Establishment of world security.

The statement takes strong exception to Geneva's decision that Germany's uniformed political organisations shall be regarded as part of the Germany Army, so long as France does not contemplate limiting her war material, abandoning her heavy artillery, or restricting her light armaments.

Germany's demand to equip armies only with weapons for defensive purposes has never been seriously considered, the statement concludes.

GLOOM IN FRANCE.

The Paris Press takes a gloomy view of the international situation. Their uniformly pessimistic editorials are occupied with the Versailles Treaty sanctions mentioned by Lord Hailsham, the disarmament crisis at Geneva, the Danzig situation, Hitler's forthcoming Reichstag declaration, and the deplorable state of the public finances.

In regard to the Treaty sanctions, it is pointed out that they have been so emasculated since 1919 as to be nonexistent, and that even the economic boycott envisaged by Article 15 bristles with difficulties. As regards Danzig, it is feared that if the Nazis win in the forthcoming elections to the Senate, serious consequences may be feared, for "passions are at white heat."

DANZIG BRISTLES WITH GUNS.

UNEASINESS OVER NAZI COUP.

DANZIG, Sunday.

The shadow of fear lies over the Free City of Danzig to-day, following the spectacular coup carried out by the local Nazis on Friday. Armed police are patrolling the city, which bristles with machine guns.

The general strike called as a protest against the seizure of trade union headquarters has failed, and the men are expected to return to work to-morrow. Hitler's followers have complete control of the situation.

Nobody knows what is to happen now. Most of the inhabitants, anxious to avoid any action which might bring reprisals, are keeping indoors.

Reuter is informed that M. Rosting, the League High Commissioner for Danzig, has been unable to find anything illegal or unconstitutional in the Nazi action.

Socialists in Danzig are urging that the Free City should appeal to Poland to prevent the Nazis seizing power there.

AUSTRIAN SNUB FOR NAZIS.

GERMANY TO MAKE A PROTEST.

VIENNA, Sunday.

Six German Nazi leaders landed here by aeroplane yesterday afternoon, and drove in procession through the main streets of the city to the "Brown House."

A clear indication of the attitude of the Austrian Government to the visit can be seen from the "welcome" the Nazis were accorded yesterday at Aspern Aerodrome. The Police Vice-President of Vienna said: "I am instructed by my Government to inform you that your visit is not exactly desirable, but that the Government has taken all precautions necessary for your safety."

Herr Frank replied to this: "I beg you to convey to your Government my thanks for this amiable reception."

A meeting at the city's largest hall was cancelled, but thousands of people lined the streets, and, although not permitted to wear uniform or to make rude remarks about the Government, they waved Swastika (Nazi) flags enthusiastically.

TWO HUNDRED ARRESTS.

They were permitted to cry "Heil," but anyone who cried "Heil, Hitler!" was sharply dealt with. Despite these restrictions, however, the enthusiasm was considerable.

The Nazis came to Vienna to take part in the celebrations connected with the 250th anniversary of the deliverance of Vienna from the Turks.

Germany is to make a strong diplomatic protest to Austria following the official "snub," said Herr Frank in an interview at the German Legation. He added that Germans felt themselves at home in Austria, the country of their leader.

To-day, the anniversary, was celebrated by a mass demonstration of 40,000 Heimwehr. Dr. Dollfuss, the Chancellor, other Ministers, and Prince Starhemberg, the leader of the Heimwehr, were present.

Although no untoward incidents occurred in Vienna itself, a detachment of Heimwehr was attacked by Nazis at Langenlois, and was prevented from arriving in Vienna. Three persons were injured in the affray.

About two hundred persons were arrested in the city to-day, the majority for crying "Heil, Hitler!" as the Heimwehr parade passed.

ROSENBERG LEAVES LONDON.

HOSTILE DEMONSTRATION.

There was a hostile demonstration by a number of men at Liverpool Street Station yesterday, when Herr Alfred Rosenberg, the semi-official Nazi Envoy, left London on the Harwich boat train on his return to Germany.

The carriage was almost immediately below the foot-bridge which spans the platforms, and just after the door had been closed a number of men who had collected there leaned over, and with cries of "Down with Hitler, down with Fascism," flung handful after handful of leaflets on to the platform. The leaflets fluttered on to the top of the carriage, some fell on to the footboard of Herr Rosenberg's compartment, and others

DOCTOR'S HIT AT M.P.S.

"SOAKING" IN THE HOUSE.

MINISTERS HARDLY ABLE TO STAND.

DR. ALFRED SALTER, M.P., speaking at the Glasgow and West of Scotland Branch of the Workers' Temperance League in Glasgow on Saturday, said: "Drink is hurting the party. It is hurting individuals in the party. It is hurting prominent men in the party, and it is hurting the Labour Party.

"We have seen Labour members in the House drink night after night. We have seen another group go into the smokeroom and soak themselves until they are stupid, and we have seen Labour Cabinet Ministers coming into the House in a condition in which they could hardly stand.

"We are not going to win a satisfactory majority for the cause until we get, in addition to our own party of people, a large body of church and chapel-going people who sympathise with our cause, and who are not prepared to support us as matters stand at present."

CARRIED TO A TAXI.

Dr. Salter, in an interview with a reporter yesterday, said: "I stand by everything I said at the meeting. I made a similar statement in 1926, and I was called up before the House of Commons for a breach of privilege. I repeated the allegation before the House, and, in addition, I gave further details. I offered to give the names of the members concerned to a Select Committee and substantiate the charges I had made.

"On that occasion, only four days before I had helped to carry a member to a taxi.

"I should like to make it clear that, although I mentioned Labour members in my speech, I did not mean that they were the only offenders. We are not responsible for the other parties, but it is surely our duty to see that our own party members are free from blame in this respect.

"If the House takes the same line on this occasion I am prepared to repeat the statements I have made, and if the House is willing, bring forward evidence substantiating them."

"NO PARTY EXEMPT."

Dr. Salter was first elected as Labour member for West Bermondsey in 1922, was defeated in 1923, but was re-elected in 1924, 1929 and 1931.

A distinguished bacteriologist and medical man, he has been the champion of many causes, and is an outspoken temperance advocate. A few years ago he caused a minor sensation by stating at a temperance meeting that he "had seen many M.P.s drunk in the House, and that no party was exempt from the failing."

Dr. Salter refused to withdraw the statement, which was the subject of a lively debate in the House, when it was condemned as "a gross libel."

During the war he took up the cause of the conscientious objector, and established a bakery in Bermondsey, where several of them worked.

BEER IN BERMONDSEY.

In his evidence before the Royal Commission on Licensing, Dr. Salter contended that the amount paid for alcoholic drink in Bermondsey exceeded the amount spent on bread, milk, rent and rates all put together.

"Nearly five times as much beer as milk is drunk," he said, "and in 1924-25 the total expenditure on alcoholic drink was £1,335,000. This represents £11 4s. 0d. per head compared with £7 4s. 0d. for the whole of Great Britain."

Dr. Salter was last week elected to an executive position on the new temperance group, which is being formed by M.P.'s of all parties.

MR. LANSBURY'S VIEW.

LABOUR NEVER A TEETOTAL PARTY.

Mr. George Lansbury, leader of the Labour Party, said to a reporter yesterday: "The Labour Party has never been a teetotal party. Numbers of us are, however, total abstainers, and among them I am one, but I have never felt myself virtuously better or worse than those who drink a glass of beer.

"Dr. Salter makes these statements on his own authority, and, of course, has a right to say what he pleases, either inside or outside the House of Commons, but he is a member of the party.

"He meets us nearly every Tuesday, and as he feels so strongly on this subject, and is so firmly of the opinion that it is his job to clear the party of this reproach of drunkenness among some of its members, in my view the place where he should start is inside the party itself. As matters now stand, the charges are made against some members of the party who are un-named. I very much hope he will come to the party and name the members and let us have the matter cleared up. He will have a full and frank opportunity of stating his case. None of us, I feel sure, will desire to defend drunkenness either inside or outside the House.

THE TEMPTATION.

"But it should not be forgotten that we are 50 members out of 615, and if this question of drink and its effects on members is to be discussed, then it should be discussed generally and not in relation to one party. For my part, I hope one day the House of Commons will be put out of bounds so far as the sale of intoxicants is concerned.

"I also hope that the procedure will be so altered that members will not have so much spare time on their hands. Then the temptation to drink will not be there."

DR. SALTER AND THE CHURCHES.

Speaking at St. Mark's, Lancefield, Church, Glasgow, last night, Dr. Salter said:—"I am disgraced to see so many churches having abandoned their temperance teaching. I cannot help feeling that not only is it unfortunate, but, in the long run, will have a disastrous effect upon the life of the Church and the welfare of the people."

In a reference to the Labour movement Dr. Salter said that if it was to realise the fullest function of its ideals it must purge itself and cleanse itself of the evil of strong drink. Members of Parliament were tempted by some of their colleagues to drink in the House of Commons, and he knew of one case where a man had fallen a victim to drink, but became a teetotaller after he had seen the evil of his ways.

BRITISH £2,000,000 CONTRACT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

COPENHAGEN, Sunday.

Approximately £137,000 is to be paid immediately to Messrs. Dorman, Long and Co. by the Danish Finance Minister as the first instalment on the £2,000,000 railway bridge which the British firm is to erect connecting the Danish islands of Falster and Zeeland.

The contract for the project, which involves the use of 30,000 tons of British steel, was signed yesterday. The bridge will be the longest in Europe, and must be completed by November, 1937, the contract stipulates.

RUSSIAN OFFER TO JAPAN.

TO RECOGNISE MANCHUKUO.

BAIT TO PURCHASE RAILWAY.

CHINA PROTESTS TO MOSCOW.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENTS.

AN emphatic protest against the sale of the Soviet's interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway is contained in a Note despatched to Moscow from Nanking, in which China says that the Soviet's contemplated action shows a disregard of treaty obligations as well as an inclination to conclude "an unlawful transaction with an unlawful régime."

The Note says that under the 1924 agreements the Soviet has absolutely no right to assign in any form its interests in the railway without China's consent, and declares that the suggested transfer of the Soviet's interests would be tantamount to recognising Manchukuo and aiding Japan. It hopes that the Soviet will reconsider its decision.

The Soviet Ambassador in Tokyo, M. Troianowski, has visited Count Uchida, the Japanese Foreign Minister, however, and conveyed a proposal, it is understood, that the Soviet Union should recognise Manchukuo if the authorities of the new State would purchase the railway.

TENSION NEAR FRONTIER.

Manchukuo's ultimatum to the Soviet authorities relative to the railway expired at midnight on Friday, and, with the failure of the Soviets to show any sign of compliance, the atmosphere is one of extreme tension and uncertainty.

According to Press reports, all Soviet citizens in the district near the eastern frontier of Manchukuo have been warned to be prepared for an immediate evacuation of their houses, and many of them have already left for Soviet territory.

The Manchukuo Government has now taken over the handling of the dispute from its railway officials, who have formally notified the Ministry of Communications that the locomotives and rolling-stock had not been returned by the Soviets within the month stipulated in the ultimatum.

It is expected that the first step in seeking complete control of the railway will be the formal announcement that Manchukuo does not propose to conform any longer with the 1924 agreements.

The railway brings Vladivostok one and a half days nearer to Moscow than the line running completely through Soviet territory.

JAPANESE THREATEN BRITISH MINES.

With an aerial bombardment clearing their path, the Japanese are smashing their way through the Chinese defences and inflicting enormous casualties on all fronts. The Chinese admit that they have suffered three thousand casualties in the past three days at Nantienmen (the Gate of a Thousand Heavens), from which they retired after the fortifications were pounded to bits.

Meanwhile the Japanese, who have crossed the Luan River, are driving back the Chinese, and it is trustworthily reported that Japanese vanguards are not far from Tanshan, where the British-owned Kailan Mines are situated.

UNIVERSITY OF DUBLIN.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

NEW PROFESSORS.

On the nomination of the University Council, the Board of Trinity College, at a meeting held on last Saturday, made the following appointments:—

PRINCESS ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT.

FIRST FLIGHT IN AN AEROPLANE.

Princess Arthur of Connaught had her first flight in an aeroplane on Saturday, when she flew with Mr. J. A. Mollison. She first went up with him in a Puss Moth at Stag Lane Aerodrome for a joy ride over London, and later went with a party to Leamington to pay a surprise visit to Sir Alan Cobham's national aviation day display.

Captain W. Hope, the King's Cup winner, placed his six-seater D.H. Hawk Moth at her disposal, and Mr. Mollison piloted the machine. The Princess sat beside Mr. Mollison during the flight from Stag Lane to Leamington and back, while he explained how the machine was flown, and interesting points of navigation.

Spectators at Leamington enthusiastically welcomed the Princess, who was delighted with her first acquaintance with aviation.

WORLD WHEAT CONFERENCE.

SOVIET AND THE BRITISH EMBARGO.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Saturday.

A complaint about the postponement of the International Wheat Conference at Geneva till after the imposition of the British embargo on Soviet goods is made in to-day's Izvestia.

The newspaper says that the conference of experts which has opened at Geneva proposes to discuss the question of international wheat agreements as if no other exporters existed on the international market except those who have sent experts to Geneva. The conference should have been held in April, when the U.S.S.R. and the Danubian countries would have participated, but was postponed, and then convoked a few days after the embargo placed by Britain on Soviet goods, including wheat.

CALCUTTA TURF CLUB'S SWEEPSTAKE.

In spite of the fact that the Calcutta Turf Club is issuing sweepstake tickets on the Derby this year, the approximate value of the tickets sold is not expected to exceed last year's figures—about nineteen and a half lakhs (£146,250).

The draw takes place on May 27th.

THE WAR DEBT HIATUS.

MORATORIUM STILL ENVISAGED.

EUROPEAN EVENTS WILL DECIDE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Sunday.

THE United States, says the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, has assumed the passive attitude in the War-debts drama of simply waiting to see what will happen. That is to say, the initiative lies with the debtors.

There exists in Congress strong feeling in favour of giving to the President powers to settle the debts question, should he so demand, but everything connected with this subject is purely speculative, and most stories have the appearance of "feelers."

President Roosevelt has power already to negotiate both tariff and War-debt treaties without the previous consent of Congress, but subject to its approval. President Hoover negotiated the moratorium in this way, and it is possible that President Roosevelt may adopt a similar course.

A FALSE REPORT.

There is, however, no authentic basis for a report that President Roosevelt has decided not to ask Congress for special powers.

Events at Geneva and in London are being closely followed in Washington; for it is generally believed that they afford the key to the debt problem.

If the results achieved at the Disarmament Conference are sufficient to justify the United States being lenient towards debtor nations, President Roosevelt will almost certainly ask Congress to take some action before the June payments are due. What that action will be may depend on the preliminary conversations to the World Economic Conference.

One of the President's predicaments is that the French Parliament is opposed to paying the December instalment without the guarantee of a moratorium, while the United States Congress is unwilling even to consider a moratorium until the instalment is paid.

FRENCH DILEMMA.

The lack of any positive utterance from the White House, and the reluctance of Congressional leaders to talk officially or predict what would be done, would seem to show that the President has not set his face wholly against a moratorium.

Meanwhile the State Department is concentrating upon preparations for the World Economic Conference. Senator Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, is so satisfied with the preliminary conversations in Washington that he expects agreement upon some of the general questions within two months.

In order that possible political hurdles shall not be allowed to impede progress at the Conference, the United States delegation will include a couple of experienced politicians.

Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, who has been taking part in the conversations at Washington, sailed for Germany last night.

Dr. Schacht issued a farewell statement after conferences with bankers and financiers and the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

He announced that he intends to ask the foreign holders of German private obligations to convene a meeting in Berlin forthwith to consider with the Reichsbank the best means of meeting the situation created by the Reichsbank's decreasing gold and foreign exchange reserves, and the difficulty of procuring the foreign exchange needed to meet these obligations.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE TARIFF TRUCE.

The Times remarks in a leading article to-day: Eight of the principal countries which are to take part in the World Economic Conference have agreed, pending and during the Conference, not to increase the existing obstacles to international commerce. This agreement may be known, for the sake of convenience, as a "tariff truce," though in scope and in spirit it is clearly intended to apply both to tariffs and to other measures in restraint of trade. A better title would be that of an "economic armistice," terminable only at one month's notice after July 31.

It is clear, adds The Times, that the agreement was essential if the success of the Conference was not to be prejudiced, and the text of Saturday's declaration by the eight signatory Powers serves to show once again how closely linked together are all the topics which the Conference is to discuss.

If a country is politically unstable, or spends so much that it is clearly heading for insolvency, then its currency will not maintain its value. Nevertheless, there is nothing quite so likely to upset the value of a currency as demands made upon a country, which that country cannot discharge in goods or services. That is why the Prime Minister reported his agreement with President Roosevelt, that "the Conference cannot be fully successful unless the debt question can be removed before it finishes," and that is also why there should be some indication before the Conference starts that a final settlement will be possible. Moreover, it is as difficult to see how any agreement upon debts, tariffs or exchange restrictions is possible without currency stabilisation as it is to see how an agreement upon currency stabilisation can endure without a settlement of debts, tariffs and exchange restrictions; for there can be no certainty about either debts or tariffs so long as the currency in which they have to be paid or levied is unstable, and exchange restrictions are a consequence of unstable exchanges.

All these matters are indissolubly linked together, and any solution must be comprehensive if it is to be enduring. The "tariff truce" is, therefore, a hopeful omen, and a proof of sincerity, but its conclusion certainly does not mean, as has been suggested in some quarters, that the work of the Conference will have been largely completed before it meets.

MOSCOW'S BRITISH PRISONERS.

ANOTHER VISIT FROM EMBASSY OFFICIALS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Sunday.

Mr. Strang, the British Chargé d'Affaires in Moscow, and Mr. Walton, the Third Secretary of the Embassy, visited the imprisoned Britons—Messrs. Thornton and Macdonald—in Sokolniki Jail to-day. Two prison officials were present during the visit.

Mr. Strang said afterwards: "They both looked well. They have been moved from the hospital wing to smaller quarters, but are occupying separate rooms still."

Neither has yet been put to work. They are now allowed to receive English newspapers after they have been censored, presumably to cut out any reference to the trial.

Most of their food is still being sent in by the Metropolitan Vickers Company here.

LIVELY SCENES AT DONEGAL MEETING.

INTERRUPTERS EJECTED BY POLICE.

GROWING UNREST AMONG THE FARMERS.

THE week-end was marked by a spate of political meetings throughout the country. Lively scenes occurred at a meeting in Donegal, which was addressed by Messrs. MacDermot and Dillon, T.D.'s. The interrupters were forcibly ejected by the police.

The growing unrest among the farming community was reflected in the speeches made at meetings of the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League. It was stated that things were even worse than in the Land League days, and that the Government should be told that the farmers had come to the end of their tether.

At a meeting in County Cork it was declared that the proposal to extend the local government register really meant that the interests of the ratepayers would possibly be handed over to people who had nothing, and could play as they liked with the ratepayers' money.

INDICTMENT OF GOVERNMENT.

Exciting scenes were witnessed at Ballybofey on Saturday night at a meeting which was addressed by Mr. MacDermot, T.D., and Mr. James Dillon, T.D., Centre Party. A number of interruptors were forcibly removed by Civic Guards. Other meetings were addressed at Donegal, Letterkenny and Ballindrait.

Mr. MacDermot said that two big problems in Irish politics were poverty and partition. Fianna Fail had not reduced poverty, and unemployment was increasing. They had struck a death-dealing blow to agriculture by the stupid and unnecessary economic war. The burden of taxation, as well as political turbulence and Bolshevism, frightened capital out of the country. On both sides there should be equality of sacrifice in the economic war, which was a wasting disease rather than a war.

Mr. MacDermot criticised Mr. de Valera for not making a settlement of the economic dispute, and said that Mr. de Valera would have got a bigger remission than any other man, because his party definitely represented the strongest anti-British element in the country, and the British would have seen that it was possible to reconcile the position by making a big financial concession.

A GENERAL ELECTION?

Mr. MacDermot forecast a general election in the near future, and said that if there was the Irish people would then be given an opportunity to declare for sanity and common-sense. Fianna Fail were keeping a republic in the background, because they knew that once a republic was declared their innings was over, and they would be left with nothing to excite the more gullible portion of the people. That was a most detestable and unpatriotic principle. He believed that a republic would lead to a lower standard of living, and be an obstacle to the unity of Ireland.

Mr. Dillon said that they were engaged in an acrimonious and bitter economic war, and there was not a person in the country who was not suffering severely by it. Patriotism meant determination to secure the right freedom, which for the Irish people was to be secured as a united nation in close co-operation with other nations of the Commonwealth.

When Mr. Dillon referred to young men shouting: "Up, de Valera," and "Up, the Republic," the interruptions started. When quiet was restored Mr. Dillon said: "You are now being made familiar with the Russian methods, which will not work in this country yet."

At this stage a number of men advanced towards the platform. The Civic Guards were requisitioned, and after a struggle the interrupters were removed.

Continuing, Mr. Dillon said that they wanted freedom from domination of British tyranny, and from domination of Irish tyranny as well. They could not fight the economic war to the bitter end and hope to make any definite impression on the unemployment problem. They were not entitled to drive the people down into the dust of destitution.

"WORSE THAN LAND LEAGUE DAYS."

FARMERS WARN GOVERNMENT.

At a convention of delegates of the National Farmers and Ratepayers' League branches in Cork County electoral area of Ballincollig—Mr. E. J. Cussen presiding—Messrs. M. Buckley, Grenagh; D. Meaney, Blarney; D. J. Walsh, Kilumney; T. T. Healy, Donoughmore; William Ryan and E. J. Cussen, secretary of the League, were selected candidates for the forthcoming county council elections. Messrs. Buckley, Healy and Ryan are members of the County Council.

Mr. Cussen said that the proposal to extend the local government register was put forward, because by doing so the Government could get sympathetic county councils. It really meant that the interests of the ratepayers would possibly be handed over to people who had nothing, and could play as they liked with the ratepayers' moneys. An extension of the local government register would produce even greater evils than had the extension of the Dail franchise. He suggested that the strongest possible protest should go forward from every ratepayer and householder in the county against the proposal. It was up to them to warn the Government that the farmer had come to the end of his tether, and that agriculture was no longer able to maintain their mad policy of wanton extravagance.

Mr. Kiely, who said that things were even worse than in the Land League days, when the farmers were slaves, advocated the holding of meetings in every city and town throughout the country. He proposed that they call on the executive to appoint a day for that purpose. The motion was carried unanimously.

"THE TYRANNY."

"We consider that President de Valera's recent declaration to the effect that the people of this country must undergo sacrifices and suffering for a period of five years, while the Government's programme is fulfilled, definitely indicates that he wants universal pauperism to prevail among the Irish people, and that the only other example of such a policy in Irish history is that of Cromwell.

"We believe that every Minister of the present Government has shown a callous disregard for the interest of agriculture, and that the bankruptcy of every farmer will inevitably follow the further continuation of the lunatic policy of the Fianna Fail Party.

"We call upon the Cork County Standing Committee and the National Executive of the League forthwith to organise public meetings throughout the country to give farmers, labourers, traders and others directly affected an opportunity to make an emphatic protest against the tyranny that oppresses them.

"We also call upon every farmer and ratepayer to compel the Government to bring the economic war to a conclusion immediately, else everyone who wants to make an honest livelihood in the Free State will be wiped out of existence, and Communism and Communists will take their places."

The above resolution was adopted at a mass meeting of East Cork farmers which was held at Midleton yesterday, at which Mr. John Dinneen presided, and twenty branches were represented.

The following were selected to contest the Queenstown electoral area at the County Council elections: Messrs. Richard Daly, Dungourney (outgoing); Denis M. Downing, Lisgoold; Thomas Russell, Aghada; John Colbert, Peace Commissioner, Ladysbridge; Anthony Mullins, White's Cross.

KILKENNY FARMERS.

Kilkenny Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, at a meeting which was held in the City Hall, Kilkenny, yesterday, Senator James Dillon (Chairman) presiding, decided to hold a monster public meeting in Kilkenny on the next fair day and to invite Mr. F. MacDermot, T.D.; Mr. Curran, T.D., and Mr. Kent, T.D.

Mr. R. Holohan, T.D., said that instead of relief from the present Government they got taxation and more responsibility.

The following were nominated to represent the Farmers' and Ratepayers' League at the forthcoming Local Government elections:—

Ballyragget Area—Mr. E. Hogan, Gaulstown, Ballyfoyle; Mr. E. Campion, Conahy; Mr. N. Rowe, Clogh, Castlecomer (provisional); Mr. P. Joyce, Urlingford; Mr. L. Harte, Castletown (provisional); Mr. Geoffrey Kennedy, Castlecomer. Kilkenny Area—Mr. W. Moore, Higignstown; Mr. J. Bryan, Dunbell; Mr. J. Brophy, Shankill, Paulstown; Mr. S. Walton, Tullaroan; Mr. E. Fennelly, Tingarron. Thomastown Area—Mr. J. Murphy, Brittas; Major J. E. E. Loftus, Goresbridge; Mr. W. Deady, Jerpoint, Thomastown; Mr. J. Brennan, Ballintee; Mr. W. Heffernan, Caherleske, Callan; Mr. E. Gorman, Woollengrange. Piltown Area—Mr. R. Power, Tinlough, Granagh; Mr. P. Galavan, The Rower; Mr. D. Burke, Killonery, Carrick-on-Suir; Mr. J. Walsh, Templeorum; Mr. M. Dunphy, Chapel, Tubbrid; Mr. T. Corcoran, Cussana, Carrigeen; Mr. F. Fitzpatrick, Knockmoylan; Mr. M. Rockett, Slieverue.

LABOUR'S PROTEST.

Addressing a largely attended Labour meeting, which was held in Tullamore on Saturday night, Mr. Davin, T.D., said that since the Labour Party had lost the balance of power things had changed, and the Government's attitude towards the wage-earners had been changed. TAXATION.

Dr. O'Higgins, T.D., and General Sean McEoin, T.D., spoke at a largely attended Cumann na nGaedheal meeting at Mountmellick yesterday.

Dr. O'Higgins said that President de Valera wanted to close every possible avenue to their trade, and in a Budget which was introduced last week did nothing but impose heavier taxation on traders and farmers. He appealed to the people not to let the country be led in the wrong direction.

A branch of Cumann na nGaedheal was formed for the district.

CUMANN NA NGAEDHEAL.

A largely attended conference, under the auspices of Cumann na nGaedheal, was held at Newcastle West Carnegie Library on Saturday. Mr. R. Mulcahy, T.D., addressed the meeting. TOWARDS A REPUBLIC.

Mr. P. J. Ruttledge, Free State Minister for Justice, addressed a convention on Saturday in Belmullet, and a convention in Ballina yesterday. At both meetings the Minister dealt with the coming local elections, and said that it was up to the Fianna Fail Party to select candidates with a National outlook, who would support the Government policy. He said that the final object of the Fianna Fail Party was the establishment of an Irish Republic.

FREE STATE RAILWAYS.

THE LOWER PAID EMPLOYES.

WEEK-END MEETINGS IN DUBLIN

FURTHER conversations in connection with the position of the Great Southern Railways Company's lower-paid employés with the agreement made at the conclusion of the unofficial strike took place during the week-end in Dublin. Some definite result of these conversations is expected shortly.

Mr. R. Whelan, Dublin District Council, National Union of Railwaymen, a member of the committee which waited on various public representatives on various occasions during the past week, stated yesterday that the members of the committee resented the publication of unauthorised statements which had appeared in sections of the press within the last few days and which would tend to prevent the peaceful settlement of the matters at issue.

It is understood that the Great Southern Railways have decided to make certain economies in connection with the railway engineering shops, but these are not likely to affect or lessen the number of men employed.

MESSRS. WALLIS'S EMPLOYES.

Messrs. John Wallis's employés met yesterday at 33 Parnell square, Dublin, to discuss their conditions of employment. It was decided that the officials of the National Union of Railwaymen, to which organisation the men belong, should be requested to take steps immediately to approach the management in connection with the Union's draft scheme of improved conditions. This scheme was drawn up at a conference held some months ago.

The cleaners who were under notice from the Great Northern Railway Company were discharged on Saturday.

MEETING IN CORK.

Senator J. T. O'Farrell (Irish Secretary of the Railway Clerks' Association), speaking at a meeting of the Cork Branch of the Railway Clerks' Association on Saturday, said that there was a great tumult in certain quarters because the Great Southern Railway debentures were written down by 15 per cent., but none of those now protesting made their voices heard when 5,000 employés were deprived of their entire livelihood in order that the interest on the debentures might be paid. If men with 35s. per week had to give up 10 per cent. of their total income it was not too much to expect that debenture-holders should surrender 15 per cent. of their dividends.

The legislative attempt to solve the transport problem was of a hotch-potch character, with no clearly defined policy, and involved the exemption from its operations of practically all the principal centres of population and great areas around them. The task of buying out the uneconomic competition was rendered unnecessarily expensive for the railway companies. The amount of capital rendered necessary for this purpose would impose a new and serious burden upon the railways. A person who operated a lorry for even one day prior to 8th February of this year would have to be fully compensated in order to get rid of his competition, whilst an employé rendered redundant in similar circumstances would have to have five years' continuous service before he could claim any compensation. He would be surprised if further and more drastic legislation were not necessary in the very near future.

THE NORTHERN LINE.

He regretted to have to say that a deplorable state of affairs existed on the Great Northern Railway. The company had not operated the reinstatement agreement either in the letter or in the spirit, and grievous hardships were, as a consequence, being inflicted upon men of long and faithful service. The problem would be the subject of consideration by the Railways Negotiating Committee, and probably later on by the Railways Wages Board. All the other companies had honourably observed the agreement.

Mr. E. O'Carroll, Irish E.C. representative, also spoke; and Mr. J. N. Bresnan (Branch Chairman) presided.

THE GAELIC LEAGUE.

MEETING IN DUBLIN.

Messrs. Michael O'Maolain, Douglas McGinley, Gilchrist O'Byrne, and P. T. McGinley were the speakers at a meeting of the Gaelic League, which was held in Cathal Brugha street, Dublin, yesterday afternoon.

The suggested postponement of the local elections was referred to by Mr. O'Maolain and Mr. P. T. McGinley, Mr. McGinley remarking that the Dublin Corporation, as at present constituted, was the most un-Gaelic corporation in Ireland. If the Dublin Corporation was Gaelic, he said, the other local bodies throughout the country would follow suit.

It was stated by Mr. O'Maolain that several labour unions were making collections among their members in order to send the children of workers to the Gaeltacht to improve their knowledge of Gaelic, and he hoped that this idea would spread.

Mr. Douglas McGinley complained of the lack of interest taken by parents in their children when they were competing in the recent Gaelic Feisann. He referred to Gaelic drama, and complimented the Free State Minister for Education, Mr. Thomas Derrig, on his attitude in encouraging Gaelic drama in Donegal.

THE HELPING HAND.

HOW ANTRIM MAN LOST HIS LIFE.

News reached Kilroot, County Antrim, on Saturday last of the death, at St. Brieuc, Brittany, on Wednesday last of Mr. Andrew Campbell Burns, of Bay View Cottage, Kilroot.

Mr. Burns, who was a member of the crew of the s.s. Cushendall, which was anchored in St. Brieuc Harbour, was helping a drunken Swedish sailor to get on board his own vessel when the man lurched against him and both fell into the water. The Swede was saved, little the worse for his ducking, but Mr. Burns's body was not recovered for some hours.

AN ITALIAN TRIBUTE.

WREATH LAID ON DERRY WAR MEMORIAL.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DERRY, Saturday.

Captain Bertoli, C.A.V., who is in charge of the advance party which has come to Derry in connection with the Italian Air Force massed flight next month from Rome to Chicago, to-day laid a wreath on the City War Memorial, bearing the inscription, "From the Italian Aviators to the Glorious Dead in the Great War."

Captain Bertoli, who was accompanied by seven N.C.O.'s of the Italian Air Force, was escorted from the Guildhall to the Diamond by the Mayor (Senator D. E. B. McCorkell, M.B.E., D.L.), the City High Sheriff (Sir Basil McFarland, Bart.), the Town Clerk (Sir F. H. Miller), Major James Colhoun, President, and other representatives of the British Legion. Mr. V. Forephno represented the local Fascisti Club and others.

A GERMAN STOWAWAY.

Commodore Paul Weihr, who is making his last round voyage in command of the Hamburg-American liner, Albert Ballin, reported on the arrival of his vessel at Queenstown on Saturday last that a stowaway—an unemployed German seaman named Celorus Kowalske—had been found hiding in the ship's lifeboat when the liner was a few hours out from Southampton.

The stowaway, who had determined to try his luck in the United States, was landed at Queenstown, and will be sent back to Germany by the first available liner.

CO. ARMAGH EXHUMATION.

SONS ON MURDER CHARGE.

AFTER SUICIDE VERDICT.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

NEWRY, Saturday.

FOLLOWING the exhumation to-day of the remains of William McGivern (65), of Corcrum, Poyntzpass, on whom an inquest was held, at which a verdict of death from self-inflicted wounds was returned, his sons—George (26) and Thomas Henry (22)—were arrested, brought before a special Court, and remanded in custody for eight days on the charge of murder.

According to the story told at the inquest, one of the sons noticed that the old man was missing last Monday evening, and, after a search, the body was found in a large flax dam 120 yards from the house. There was a gash in the old man's throat, while his hands were tied with a necktie.

Dr. Frank McDermott said that he did not believe that the hands were bound in such a way as would prevent the man from using a razor on himself. He thought that the wound would cause death in about a minute.

After the inquest the police continued their investigations, and, on Thursday, discovered a blood-stained razor in a ditch fifty yards from the house where the man lived. The exhumation of the body and the arrest of the man's sons followed.

After evidence of arrest had been given the accused men were removed to the Crumlin Road Prison, Belfast. The assistance of the Criminal Investigation Department, Belfast, has been obtained.

IRISH ART AND INDUSTRY.

ARCHBISHOP AND NEWSPAPER TAX.

TUAM, Sunday.

"Irish music is the most perfect expression of the human soul," declared the Most Rev. Dr. Gilmartin, Archbishop of Tuam, in opening the Tuam Feis, before a large gathering to-day.

"It is allied," he went on, "in its spiritual inspiration to the Gregorian chant, and in its alternating joy and wistful sadness is a reflex of man's life as a pilgrimage to eternity. Here to-day we have competitions in the singing of old Irish melodies and in the rendering of the Gregorian chant.

"St. Paul says that our conversation ought to be in heaven. Well, the conversation that used to reign, and will, I hope reign again in the Irish household, where Irish was the language and stories were told in Irish of saints and warriors, is certainly as near to heaven as the modern standard of conversation in fashionable drawing-rooms.

"We are all glad that at last a beginning has been made to put a ban on foreign newspapers. While some foreign newspapers are good and some neither good nor bad, many of them are positively vile. We are only sorry a more prohibitive tax has not been put on them, including the weeklies, because we can all live and be happy without them, having plenty of our own clean and interesting papers.

"I am happy to know," he concluded, "that the effort to restore Irish manufacture to its rightful place in the life of the people is having its effect in the wider use of Irish clothing materials and Irish fashions. Let us hope that this will continue, and that next year will find us all dressed in the products of Irish industry and Irish art, and looking better for the change."

The Archbishop presented two silver cups, one for plain chant singing and one for intermediate choirs from convents and colleges.

COMMITTEES OF AGRICULTURE.

THEIR ABOLITION ADVOCATED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Saturday.

Stating that he had attended to voice the views of the farmers, Mr. C. McCarthy, a member of the Cork County Council, at the monthly meeting of the Cork County Committee of Agriculture, advocated the abolition of committees of agriculture. They existed, he said, for the purpose of increasing food production, but where were they going to get the market for their surplus produce? "You have to-day," he added, "passed cheques to officials, and, so far as agriculture is concerned, it is all just downright waste."

The following resolution was adopted unanimously by the Committee:—"That we, the Cork County Committee of Agriculture, direct our Secretary to invite the Cattle Trade Association and the Farmers' Union to our next meeting, with a view to discussing the present deplorable position of agriculture and the cattle industry."

AIR CARNIVAL AT TEMPLEMORE.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

McAuley, J. Crome, Dr. Jones and Lieutenant Russell. An "aerobatic" display was given by Lieutenant Russell.

CASTLEREA RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.

The streets of Castlerea were decorated with Papal flags, Congress banners, bunting and flowers yesterday for the occasion of the annual public procession in honour of Christ the King, in which over eight thousand people took part.

Benediction was given at the statue of Christ the King in St. Patrick street and from an altar erected at the west end of the town.

POLICE CHIEF'S VIEWS.

A protest against the "introduction of militarism" into the police force was made by Mr. R. Knox, Deputy Chief Constable of Hampshire, addressing a Brotherhood meeting at Camberley, Surrey, yesterday. It would be a very sad day, he said, if any police force should become a military or semi-military organisation.

"Our strength lies in the fact that we share the sorrows and joys of the men and women among whom we live and work. It is the spirit between the force and the citizens it serves that is the strength that lies behind us, and enables us to do our duty without fear, affection, favour or ill-will."

LEFT QUARTER OF A MILLION.

Sir Alexander William Prince, K.B.E., of Claridge's Hotel, Brook street, Mayfair, London, W., formerly of 7 Fitzjohn's avenue, N.W., a director of the British Controlled Oilfields, Ltd.; Commercial Union Assurance Co., Ltd. (Hand-in-Hand Board); the Palmerston Investment Trust, Ltd.; the Trinidad Petroleum Development Co., Ltd.; the Anglo-Venezuelan Oil Trust, and of the Central Area Exploitation Co. (Venezuela), who died on the 21st March last, aged sixty-three years, son of the late William Prince, of Canterbury, left estate, "so far as can at present be ascertained," of the gross value of £259,331 6s. 9d., with net personalty £249,304 19s. 7d. Probate of his will, dated the 27th January, 1932, with two codicils, has been granted to his widow, Dame Edith Sarah Prince, of the same address, and his son, Leslie Barnett Prince, of 190 Palmerston House, Old Broad street, London, E.C., and of 6 Essex Villas, Kensington, W., accountant.

IRELAND'S TURF WEALTH.

ITS INDUSTRIAL POSSIBILITIES.

"Ireland has turf bogs which could produce sufficient fuel for existing industries, and all those to come for centuries," said Herr A. L. Brandy, a German consulting engineer, when a film showing the development of the turf industry in Germany was exhibited on Saturday last at the Camden Street Picture House, Dublin. The film has been lent by the North-West German Power Company of Weissmoor, and it is intended to have it shown at various cinemas throughout the country.

Herr Brandy said that properly developed the Irish turf bogs could be made a source of great profit. The uses of turf were many; there was now no difficulty in producing from it the best water gas; turf-coke, which was fully equivalent to the best charcoal, and tar. It could be used with advantage for industrial purposes, provided that the fireplaces and boilers were of the right kind. It was comparatively easy to adapt existing boilers and fireplaces for the use of turf.

GERMAN ENTERPRISE.

He then explained the developments that had taken place at Weissmoor, where had been established in 1907 an electrical scheme using turf as fuel. By 1909 several towns, including Emden and Wilhelmshaven, were supplied with electricity from this source, and, after 1920, when the concern was completely reorganised, the works were producing 88,000 tons of compressed turf per annum and the output of electricity was 55,000,000 kilowatts.

Since 1926, he said, the whole establishment had been run exclusively on turf, and the work of cutting and transporting the turf was very largely done by machinery. Large hothouses had also been built for the cultivation of fruit and vegetables, so that the boilers of the power house were used, not only for the production of electric current, but for heating the hothouses.

The film showed the various processes used at the Weissmoor factory, such as the cutting and drying of turf, its transportation and the manner in which it is used in the factory boilers. The working of the hothouses was also illustrated.

Mr. Frank Aiken, the Free State Minister of Defence, was present at the performance, as were also a number of Senators and deputies, Colonel Broy, Major-General Brennan, Mr. P. J. Little (Parliamentary Secretary to the President), Professor Nolan (State Laboratory), Mr. T. Andrews and Mr. P. J. Whelan (Irish Film Renters).

PLAYING IRELAND'S GAME.

ORGANISING TO TAKE POWER.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

KILMALLOCK, Sunday.

Speaking at a largely attended Cumann na nGaedheal convention at Hospital today, Mr. Richard Mulcahy, T.D., stressed the need of organising to take power again into their own hands. Ireland's game was played on a chess board, and the day was coming when they would get a chance of saying who would lead them. They wanted groups of men and women in every area who would see that people cast their votes in a systematic way. If they neglected to do that, Ireland was let down, and then Ireland's game was lost. They could not afford to lose the game that was brought along from generation to generation.

Let them have people who would stand by Cumann na nGaedheal and the spirit that helped to Irish freedom in the past. Let them extend their sympathy to the men who were growing up in the Army Comrades' Association, because, with all the organisation of Cumann na nGaedheal, when the day came to record their votes, they may find terrorists there. It was necessary at Kilmallock to have men to protect freedom of speech, and it may be necessary to do so at the polls. They were asked to hand over their representation to the supporters of the Fianna Fail policy, and they had seen where burdens that should fall on the Central Government were pushed on to the local authorities. Fianna Fail wanted to win the local elections, because they wanted to get their hands on the purse of the ratepayers as well as on the purse of the taxpayers.

He asked the people to recognise their responsibilities, and they would find themselves with an organisation that would not only put out the present Government, but would be there to support the new one that would be put in, which would bring back constructive efforts and the development of the land of the country.

Messrs. G. Bennett, T.D., and Alderman Reidy, T.D., also spoke, and Dr. MacNamara presided.

SON'S NAME ON TICKET.

"FOR LUCK" IN SWEEPSTAKE.

FATHER'S COURT APPLICATION.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BALLINA, Saturday.

AT Ballina Circuit Court to-day, Nicholas Kane, a draper, of Ballina, sought a declaration that he was entitled to £1,950, the proceeds of a ticket in the Irish Hospitals' Derby sweepstake of June, 1932, the respondent being John Patrick Kane, his son, aged three years, whose name was inserted on the counterfoil of the ticket.

Mr. Leonard, K.C., for the applicant, said that the plaintiff, in inserting the name of his son on the counterfoil, did not intend to assign his interest or any part of it. The ticket drew a horse named "Jiweh," which ran unplaced. Thereupon the holder became entitled to receive from the trustees of the sweepstake the sum of £1,750.

Counsel said that the Lord Chief Justice made the minor a ward of the Court, and appointed the father his guardian, with authority to negotiate for the sale of a half-share of the ticket, which he did for £1,075. This sum, with £875, the value of the remaining half, was lodged with the Court to the credit of the minor, without prejudice to the determination of the question as to the ownership of the full amount. The father alleged that when he constituted his son the nominal holder of the ticket, he did not intend to give him any beneficial interest in the proceeds, and simply inserted his name on the counterfoil for luck.

The Judge, by consent of the General Solicitor for Minors, declared that the applicant was entitled to the funds in Court, with the exception of £500, to which he declared the son was entitled.

TENSION IN EUROPE.

were scattered among the little group of the envoy's countrymen, who, however, ignored them. One of the men produced a Red Flag.

Railway police escorted the demonstrators from the station. A sergeant was stationed at the door of the compartment until the train's departure, but several men shouted "Down with Hitler, down with the murderer," as the train steamed out.

NAZI'S IMPRESSIONS.

In an interview with Reuter's Diplomatic Correspondent, Herr Rosenberg declared, "I think the German-British relationship has to be looked upon from the point of view of political necessity and not from the point of view of personal feeling. I think that the acknowledgment of German equality would certainly lead to permanent peace."

Asked whether he was satisfied with the results of his visit, Dr. Rosenberg replied, "Yes." It was always most valuable to get the opinion of another country clearly when faced with the necessity of dealing with important problems, he added.

As to whether he had found the English people sympathetic to the new régime in Germany, Dr. Rosenberg admitted that opinion varied with individuals. Asked whether he favoured closer Anglo-German co-operation, or whether he concluded that Germany must press on towards her aims alone, Herr Hitler's representative replied that he hoped for "a large understanding" in view of the mutual interests of both countries.

"I do trust," he concluded, "that Germany's aims, which so closely touch European problems, will be solved in a friendly and peaceful spirit by collaboration in the interests of all."

Three men and six police officers had a rough-and-tumble fight for several minutes in Marylebone Police Court on Saturday, when they were charged in connection with the damaging of an effigy of Hitler in Madame Tussaud's exhibition. The magistrate had ordered their removal for making propaganda speeches, and they resisted.

ROOSEVELT'S VIEWS ON ARMS.

HERRIOT'S DISCLOSURES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Sunday.

President Roosevelt agrees with the French that a stricter control of armaments is needed than that envisaged in the British draft plan, declared M. Herriot, the former French Premier, in a speech at Marseilles to-day.

Four essential points, he said, emerged from the conversations he had had with Mr. Roosevelt in Washington about the United States attitude towards disarmament and security. These were:—

1—The British plan must be the basis of the discussions.

2—But it was necessary to have some form of permanent control of a stricter nature than that foreseen by the British. Such control should be at once elastic and automatic.

3—President Roosevelt admitted the danger of a compromise which would allow to Germany types of aeroplanes, guns and other arms such as would enable her to make preparations for mass production and re-armament.

4—President Roosevelt's essential contribution to security was his promise to abandon mutual trading with an aggressor if a satisfactory definition of aggression were found. He would send an observer to an international conference called for that purpose.

M. Herriot said that he found the President ready to persist in his efforts towards international conciliation in spite of those in America who would abandon Europe to her fate.

ROOMKEEPERS' SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the Executive Body of the Sick and Indigent Roomkeepers' Society (Incorporated), was held last Friday evening at the offices, 2 Palace street. Mr. Martin Mortell presided. Also present:—Messrs. James F. Crozier, Patrick J. O'Hanlon, Geo. F. Macnamara, Patrick Byrne, James Clarke, P.C.; John Mackey, John J. Gilfoyle, James A. Finlay, Joseph McDonnell, Thomas E. Brindley, Arthur Staveley, Patrick J. Cahill, P.C., T.C.; Charles W. Armstrong and Gerard C. Weekes, Secretary.

The report and financial statement for the month of April was read and adopted. It showed that 266 applications from poor families, duly vouched in accordance with the rules, had been admitted, the amount expended in relief being £176 5s. 6d. During the month £36 was also expended in distributing coal amongst the most deserving cases.

FRANCO-CANADIAN TRADE TREATY.

By the new reciprocal trade treaty between Canada and France, France is giving a list of sixty items on which reduced rates will be applicable to Canadian imports, including automobiles, certain machinery, electrical ware and apparatus, printed matter, leather and leather manufactures, agricultural implements, ferro-alloys, copper, nickel, and other base metal products, pulpwood products, certain fruits, vegetables, meats, salmon, wheat, and several other farm products and cattle.

In return Canada gives reductions of 75 items, largely manufactured products, of which seven were granted British preferential rates, with missals, rosaries, etc., on the free list.

DUBLIN SHIRT FACTORY

OPENED BY MR. LEMASS.

THE DEPARTMENT'S HELP.

THE new shirt factory of Irish Industries, Ltd., at 8 and 9 Upper Abbey street, Dublin, was officially opened on Saturday last by Mr. Sean T. Lemass, Free State Minister for Industry and Commerce.

The Minister, who was accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. A. J. Connolly, was received by the following directors of the company:—Messrs. C. T. Hafner (Chairman), J. Daly and Robert Craig, with Mr. J. McGrath, secretary. There were also present:—Mrs. Lee, Chairman of Messrs. Edward Lee and Co., Ltd., and Mr. N. Colleton, Managing Director, and Mr. J. Barron, Buyer, of the same firm.

Mr. Hafner, on behalf of the board and factory, which is well lighted, ventilated and equipped.

OVER 100 HANDS.

Mr. Hafner, on behalf of the Board and the staff, thanked the Minister for attending to perform the ceremony of opening the factory. He said that the company started the factory in October last with 25 hands; now they employed 112, and he was happy to say that since they began to operate orders had been increasing, and at present many orders were awaiting execution. He hoped that the future working of the factory would enable them to make it twice as big as it was at present.

Mr. Lemass said that it gave him great pleasure to open the factory, and to know that his department had been able to assist in some small way those who started the factory and made it so successful. He was very pleased with the appearance of the factory—its light, air space, and ventilation. There were in other countries factories which employed larger numbers, but there was no place more suitably got up or better equipped, and the workers appeared to be very happy. He hoped that the industry would have a very long and prosperous life, and that, if he had another opportunity of coming there, he would find double the number employed. (Applause.)

Mr. Lemass then set the machinery in motion and formally declared the factory open.

THE HOSPITALS SWEEPSTAKE.

LONDON COURT APPLICATION.

Mr. Bruce Searl, solicitor, applied to Mr. Fry, the magistrate, at Bow street, London, on Saturday for summonses under the Lotteries Act, 1836, against the editor and proprietors of a London evening newspaper for publishing a notice respecting a certain lottery. The application, he said, was made on behalf of a private person.

Mr. Fry—Why are you asking for process?

Mr. Searl—Because my client considers that owing to the publication of this notice a lot of money is likely to go out of England into Ireland.

Mr. Fry said that if a written information were left with him he would consider it.

The name of the newspaper was not disclosed.

Mr. Searl had before him a copy of a London evening newspaper with an illustration of the back of an envelope, on which there was printed, "Some day you may get a telegram to say you have won a sweep prize. Get your tickets now. Irish Hospitals Sweepstake advertisement."

IRISH RAINFALL ASSOCIATION.

REPORT FOR APRIL.

April was abnormally dry up to the 22nd, and the amount was only about half the average in many places for the month. There was some heavy rain on 22nd, 24th, and the last few days were showery. In the South the 22nd was the only day with heavy rain, but in the North a few other records were given. There was some heavy frost a few days before the change, which damaged crops. Thunder was reported on 27th-29th, and there were showers of hail and sleet during the month, but sunshine was deficient considering the drought. The three highest daily falls of rain were 1.86ins. and 1.45ins. at Fofanny, Co. Down, and 1.38ins. at Dunmanway, Co. Cork. At Tuamgraney, Co. Clare, there was no rain at all for the first three weeks, while Kilkee and Carrick-on-Suir only had .02in. Totals for the month:—

FURTHER EXPANSION OF STEEL ACTIVITY: STOCKS CLOSE EASY.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

Profit-taking was again in evidence during to-day's two-hour session on the Stock Market. The general trend was downward, and losses up to 3 points were fairly numerous at the close. The turnover amounted to 2,270,000 shares.

Easiness was shown at the opening, and early in the session the market encountered a sharp selling movement in active trading. Many of the leading issues fell 1 to 3 points, with pressure directed chiefly against the Industrial and Utility groups. The latter section was evidently adversely affected by the passage through the Senate of the measure to transfer the tax on electric power to the producers.

The market closed easy.

WALL STREET.

To-day's news of the business situation was mostly favourable, but the figures of freight car loadings at 523,800 units showed a moderate recession, and tended to accelerate profit-taking, traders feeling that the improvement in business might be approaching its seasonal peak. Nevertheless, the week-end reports indicated a further expansion of steel activity.

Call money was nominal. Prime Paper remained at 1½ per cent. bid, and 2¼ per cent. asked. Open market discount rates were unchanged for ninety day bank bills at ⅜ per cent. bid, and ¼ per cent. asked, and 1⅛ per cent. bid, and 1 per cent. asked, for six months' bills.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Saturday.

Trading on the Grain market during to-day's short session was nervous and price movements erratic. Commission houses were selling while longs took profits. The trade are awaiting new developments in connection with farm relief measure. The easier tone of stocks had a disturbing effect. Wheat early strengthened on covering and in unison with maize, but subsequently reacted on the late set-back in maize. Rye fluctuated in unison with wheat, while oats were influenced by the movements in maize prices.

WHEAT commenced steady, ⅛c. lower to unchanged. The close was barely steady at ⅜c. to ⅞c. decline.

(1919), Ltd., amounted to £67,508 in 1932, a reduction of £10,000 compared with the previous year. The Ordinary Shares are to receive a final dividend of 4 1-6 per cent., less tax, making 6 2-3 per cent., against 8 1-3 per cent. £19,842 forward, compared with £19,833 brought in.

British Monomarks.—Loss for 1932 £1,612, against loss previously, £4,758.

General Ceylon Rubber and Tea.—Accounts for 1932 show a loss of £21,386 (against a loss of £5,508). To £3,534 brought in is added £22,000 transferred from reserve, making £25,534. Deducting year's loss and provision for premium on note repayment £2,500, and charges relating to the note issue £1,331, leaves credit £317 forward. Reserve now stands at £60,000. Tea crop was 2,219,864 lb.; cost was 6.84d. lower; net price realised 6.72d. (against 8.99d.). Rubber crop was 482,510 lb., and cardamom crop 7,920 lb.

Darjeeling Company.—Report for 1932 shows that crop of tea amounted to 806,905 lb.—increase of 18,219 lb.; average price obtained was 1s. 1.64d. per lb.—decrease 4.66d. per lb. Profit was £1,061, plus interest on investments £2,878, and crop 1931 adjustment £360, making £3,290. Dividend of 2½ per cent., less tax. Forward £3,855, against £3,951.

Hull Brewery.—Interim at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less tax, on the Ordinary (same).

Lamb Brewery.—Final Ordinary dividend of 2/- per share, making 3/-, tax free (same).

Lake View Trust.—Revenue of the Lake View Investment Trust for the year to March 31 was £18,368 lower at £92,075, as compared with 1931-32. After providing for expenses, interest and other outgoings, the net balance was £42,892, a decrease of £17,515. With the £33,544 brought in, the total available was £76,436, against £90,231. It is proposed to pay a final dividend of 4 per cent., less tax at 4s. 10d. on the Ordinary shares making 6½ per cent. (against 10 per cent.) for the year. Preference dividend requires £11,375, and the balance of £35,486 is carried forward, an increase of £1,941 on the sum brought in. A valuation of the investments made as at March 31 showed a slight improvement as compared with a year ago. The depreciation, after deducting the reserve and the amount carried forward, is less than 1 per cent. on the amount at which the investments stand in the balance sheet.

St. Andrew's Trust.—Net revenue to April 15 was £21,868 (against £31,342), plus £19,269 (£13,520) brought in. Preference dividend for year takes £16,875, and balance £24,262 carried forward. While profits show a surplus after preference dividend, directors consider it advisable, under present uncertain conditions, to conserve resources. (Previous year 4 per cent. on Ordinary.) Valuation of investments showed a depreciation of 32.78 per cent. (against 39.59 per cent.) on balance sheet figure.

Shanghai Electric Construction.—A final dividend of 7 per cent., free of tax, making 11 per cent. for the year (12½ per cent.). Forward, £24,819.

"THE MASTER OF EPILOGUE."

BROADCAST MEMORIAL TO MR. J. C. STOBART.

Last night's B.B.C. broadcast epilogue was in the form of a memorial to the originator of the epilogue, Mr. J. C. Stobart, one of the veterans of the B.B.C., who died on Thursday.

After the singing of "For all the Saints," the following words were spoken:—

"In serenity and peace, as we believe, treading more gallant ways known now as he was known, we remember in this epilogue John Clark Stobart, the master of epilogue.

"Of wide scholarship and determined Christian principle, humble of heart and of great good humour, his name is secure in the gratitude and affection of those whom here, and far more everywhere, he served devotedly and well."

Then came Sullivan's "Crossing the Bar," followed by the reading of the beautiful passage from St. John 14, beginning "Let not your heart be troubled," and other extracts.

The epilogue ended with "Jerusalem the Golden."

RETIREMENT OF MR. H. S. BOURKE.

Mr. H. S. Bourke, who recently retired from the position of director of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Ltd., has connections with the tobacco trade of that Dominion which extend over a period of forty-odd years.

Born in London, he was a member of an old Co. Mayo family, and had some commercial experience before emigrating to Canada, where he joined the staff of the Empire Tobacco Company in 1891. During the next few years he gained experience in every branch of the business, and when the ownership of the company changed hands towards the end of the century Mr. Bourke was appointed secretary and sales manager. Eventually the Empire Tobacco Company, Ltd., was absorbed by the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, and Mr. Bourke became a director as well as assistant sales and traffic manager.

During his early years in Canada he was a keen cricketer and oarsman, but the days of his retirement will be devoted to fishing and bowling. He is president of St. George Bowling Club, Westmount, and of the Rotary Club of Montreal.

DUNDALK CONCLUDED.

DESLA'S HEIR WINS £200 HURDLE RACE IN EASY STYLE.

THE second day's racing at Dundalk was to a great extent spoiled by heavy rain, which set in about an hour before the start and continued to the end of the proceedings. Still the attendance was considerably better than on the previous day, and the meeting was, on the whole, a satisfactory one from the promoters' point of view.

DOUBLE FOR J. DAWSON.

Joe Dawson, the Rathbride Manor trainer, whose luck has not been too good of late, saddled a couple of winners during the afternoon in Arab Man and Jorto, both his own property. Arab Man had failed to do himself justice in a slow-run race for the Castletown Hurdle Race on the previous day, but in a more truly run race for the Totalisator Plate he scored a comfortable win. Joe Canty, who was riding at Haydock Park on Friday, had the mount on Jorto in the Ravensdale Plate, and, after waiting behind Gipsy Jane until well up the straight, he shot his mount up to gain a clever win, the weight telling against Mrs. H. D Beamish's mare in the closing stages.

ACTING MASTER AT LAST.

Although Acting Master and Roseate Dawn were the only runners for the Northern Steeplechase the race provided plenty of excitement. Acting Master was in the lead most of the way, but was headed and apparently beaten at the last fence. W. T. O'Grady, however, kept persevering, and, with Roseate Dawn tiring close home, he got Mr. Lindsay-Hogg's horse up in the last few strides to win by a neck. Thus was patience rewarded, for this was the first race won by Acting Master since becoming the property of Mr. Lindsay-Hogg over twelve months ago.

The principal event of the day, the Dundalk Hurdle Race, which was endowed with £200 in prize money, fell an easy prey to Mr. A. Nolan's Desla's Heir, who drew away from the field half a mile from home, and thenceforward never left the issue in doubt. The winner is a four-year-old by Bachelor's Heir out of Desla, and was bred by his owner, Mr. A. Nolan, who resides in the Kilcullen district. Cold Bird fell at the last hurdle, but was well beaten at the time.

MR. E. PARKINSON'S FIRST WINNER.

Mr. E. Parkinson, son of the Maddenstown Lodge trainer, had his first winning ride when Cango got the better of a punishing finish with Shantony and won the Tally Ho! Plate. He had then to run the gauntlet of an objection for bumping, boring and crossing at the last turn, lodged by the Hon. H. J. Wellesley, the rider of the second, but this the Stewards after prolonged deliberation overruled.

BOWMINT'S BAD LUCK.

Just as we were promised an exciting finish for the Mountain Steeplechase between Ho Fang and Bowmint, the former blundered badly at the second last fence, and it was as much as W. T. O'Grady could do to retain his seat in the saddle. The horse lost many lengths by the contretemps, and the race looked as good as won by Bowmint, who, however, came down at the final fence, and Ho Fang went on to score a very lucky victory. Cango settled down with a long lead of Cheerful Marquis, Beaufort Flier, Shantony, Clonrock and Japanese Belle until a quarter of a mile from home, where Shantony joined Cango. Close home Shantony took a slight lead, but Cango, coming again, got up to win by three-quarters of a length; bad third. Japanese Belle was fourth, Beaufort Flier fifth, and Clonrock sixth.

THE THREE-YEAR-OLD FORM.

HIGH PLACE ASSIGNED TO CANTEENER : SOME OF THE DERBY COLTS : RACING AT GATWICK.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Sunday Night.

THE race for the Irish Two Thousand Guineas last week interested me particularly for the reason that the two three-year-olds from England, Canteener and Mannering, ran so absolutely true to their two-year-old form. In our Free Handicap for last year Mr. Arthur Fawcett made Canteener and Mannering to be one and the same, each being given 8st. 6lb., or 9lb. below the supposed best colt, Manitoba.

TRUE TO FORM.

In the same compilation Versicle was set to give 2lb. to Happy Call, and giving 1lb. the colt beat the filly a head over ten furlongs at Gatwick on Friday. Lover's Walk was regarded as 6lb. below Happy Call, and he was beaten a length and a half for second place in the Gatwick race, so that the form is true to an ounce. Between Happy Call and Versicle it is a few pounds out, but the fact remains that in the last few days we have had three colts, a gelding and a filly run astonishingly true to their two-year-old form.

I think that Mannering, Canteener and Versicle would have been higher in the Free Handicap had it not been for certain happenings towards the end of the season. Back in September Canteener's trainer used to tell me that he thought that he had in the grey about the best two-year-old in England, and soon after he won the valuable Highclere Nursery carrying 9st. by four lengths and half a length from Nun's Veil and Lover's Walk—a smashing performance as he was badly drawn.

A HEAVY SEASON.

I will make oath and affirm here that Manitoba nor any other colt in England would have given Canteener 8lb. that day. He did not come down the hill well when, with 9st 5lb., he was only third in a nursery at Newmarket giving 12lb. to the winner, Delicia, who was smart then.

In November he gave a weak performance when last to Statesman in the Hurst Park Great Two-Year-Old Stakes, the most misleading race in England, as those who backed Statesman for the Guineas on the strength of it found to their cost. Canteener, it should be remembered, had won in the second week of the season when he beat Jim Thomas at Kempton, and had been in hard training all the season.

Versicle, after winning four races, and being second on the other occasion, was slammed by Brown Betty in the Chievely Park Stakes at Newmarket in October, and Mr. Fawcett made her the handsome allowance of 7lb. from Mr. Woodward's filly in his Free Handicap. Versicle at York in August had only beaten Mannering a short head at the sex allowance.

NOT FAR FROM THE BEST.

In that bumping, scrambling race for the Middle Park Stakes, after which Manitoba, who had finished three parts and a head in front of Felicitation and Scarlet Tiger, was disqualified, Mannering was baulked and then finished close up fourth. For this he was allowed 9lb. in the Free Handicap from Manitoba and 6lb. each from the other pair. This was generous enough. My own impression is that neither Canteener nor Mannering is far removed from being the best of our three-year-olds. The fact that neither was placed in the Free Handicap when it came to be run in Craven week means little, because the race was run away with by Cotoneaster, originally handicapped at 6st. 7lb. In that race Felicitation ran a good deal worse than Mannering did.

Coming back to Manitoba, I believe that he is doing well in his preparation for the Derby, and it would not greatly surprise me were there to be a revulsion of feeling in his favour with the whole position so uncertain, or would it surprise me to see him start favourite.

MANITOBA AND THE DERBY.

There is naturally a glamour attaching to a fancied Beckhampton colt in the Derby, and there is also the glamour attaching to anything that Gordon Richard rides, although the champion jockey has been singularly unlucky in the Derby so far; as a matter of fact, through his riding contracts he has been saddled with some hopeless mounts at Epsom, and the only much fancied candidate I remember him riding was Sunny Trace.

There is no doubt that Manitoba was not at his best when he ran for the Guineas, and when he came into the paddock there was clear evidence that one of his legs had been giving his trainer trouble.

I am not going to say here now that Manitoba will win the Derby. He was assuredly the best two-year-old of last season, but a critical examination of his form does not make out that he was outstandingly the best.

I have a very vivid recollection of the race for the Coventry Stakes at Ascot, with Lover's Walk racing away out by himself in the middle of this wide course, and Gordon Richards and Manitoba on the rails. Lover's Walk never gave a point, and Richards had no easy task to beat him by three-parts of a length. I think the margin would have been a good deal less had they raced together. Lover's Walk had a hard race then, and although he won on the July course he ran sourly in some races afterwards.

Hyperion is still joint favourite with the French colt, Rodosto, for the Derby mainly, I suppose, because he has not this year soiled the fair page of his copy book. There is nothing against him except, perhaps, his lack of size, and will be not before Epsom, as he does not run again until the Derby. And there we will leave the three-year-olds for another week.

BLANDEARNA'S SUCCESS.

Although there was a change for the worse in the weather, there was a good attendance at Gatwick yesterday, when Blandearna won the Princes Handicap for Sir Abe Bailey, ridden by the South African jockey, Nicoll. By the way, Nicoll and Buckham, who are having their first season in England, are doing well, and have shown themselves competent riders.

Blandearna seems only able to win at Gatwick. He took the Stayers' Handicap on this course last August, a circumstance which caused him to be one of the favourites for the Cesarewitch. The son of Blandford put up a very game effort to get up and win a short head and a head from Grey Wonder and Mr. Bertram. The two latter had done most of the donkey work, and it should be the turn of Grey Wonder to win before long.

Mr. Somerville Tattersall's Hurstwood colt, Brunswick, cantered away with the Marlborough Plate, which was, by the way, won by April the Fifth last year. Brunswick drew out three furlongs from home, and then beat Monte Colaro by three lengths. Brunswick was fourth in the Two Thousand Guineas, but he is not engaged in the Derby, which does not seem to matter.

It was a blank day for Gordon Richards, who rode a very hot favourite for the opening selling race—Lord Glaneiy's Grand Pet colt. This one, however, was badly drawn, and never looked like winning. Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen's filly by Apelle, out of Vervelle, then won easily by three lengths from Tweedledee, and was bought by Stanley Wootton for 310 guineas.

BLACK AND BLUE'S THIRD.

Black and Blue was winning his third race this season—he has only run in three—when he beat Abundance by two lengths. Mr. Persse, who bought him privately after his last victory, bought him in now for 480 guineas. Richards rode another hot favourite in Bacona in the Home-Bred T.Y.O. Plate, but this one did little better than the Grand Pet colt, and was beaten out of a place, Tom Bowling winning easily from Sanchance for Mr. Eric Stedall, who bought the Beresford gelding at the Dublin sales last year. Bombshell was an easy winner of the Apprentice Plate from Birth Child.

RODOSTO PASSES FRENCH TEST.

GUINEAS WINNER TO RUN IN THE DERBY.

PARIS, Sunday.

Although Rodosto, winner of the English Two Thousand Guineas, duly carried off the French Two Thousand Guineas (Poule d'Essai des Poulains), run over a mile at Longchamps, this afternoon, it was not a very facile performance. All the way up the straight Rodosto and Commander, ridden by the English jockey, Charles Elliott, indulged in a neck-and-neck struggle. Both jockeys were riding their hardest as the two colts approached the winning post, but Rodosto responded just the stronger to the calls of his jockey, and held on to win by a head.

It may well be the gameness which Rodosto showed in that final struggle to the winning post which influenced the colt's owner, Princess de Faucigny-Lucinge, to let her horse take his chance in the Epsom Derby. It had been previously announced that the colt's running in the Epsom "classic" depended upon his showing in the race here this afternoon.

The placings were :—Rodosto (R. Brethes), 1; Commander (C. Elliott), 2; Vertigineux (C. H. Semblat), 3. Won by a head; a distance.

BIPEARL'S SUCCESS.

The Poule d'Essai des Pouliches (the French One Thousand Guineas) was won by Bipearl by half a length from Vareuse, with Phebe, four lengths away, third.

Bipearl thus made amends for her failure in the English One Thousand Guineas. She is owned by Mr. Edward Esmond, and is a grey filly by Biribi out of Pearl Maiden (dam of the brilliant Pearl Cap). She is engaged in the Epsom Oaks.

Vareuse, owned by Baron Edouard de Rothchild, was greatly fancied, and was preferred to Bipearl in the betting.

MISHAP TO CROSS WIND.

Mr. R. Croker's Cross Wind has met with a mishap in training, and may not be able to contest the Epsom Derby. His preparation has had to be stopped owing to an accident during a gallop, when one of his shoes, which had been displaced, injured a leg, and although the injury was immediately treated slight infection set in.

It is hoped that Cross Wind will be ready for the Irish Derby at the end of next month.

SUPPORT FOR SCARLET TIGER.

There are likely to be some important changes in the wagering on the Derby when the card is called over at the Victoria Club, London, to-day. On Saturday Scarlet Tiger was in great request, and prices from 50 to 1 to 20 to 1 were taken about his chance. At Gatwick Lord Durham's colt was backed to win £5,000 at 50 to 1. Manitoba was also supported at Gatwick to win £4,000 at 10 to 1.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

R. B. Bennett's Penalty.

Lady Houston's R. B. Bennett incurred a 12lb. penalty for the Manchester Cup by winning the Haydock Park Handicap on Saturday. His weight is now 8st. 9lb.

A Well-timed Purchase.

Lord Nunburnholme made a very well-timed bloodstock purchase a few days ago, when he became the owner of the four years old Black and Blue, as the gelding was an easy winner of the Mayblossom Selling Handicap at Gatwick on Saturday.

POLO.

ODD GOAL SUCCESS FOR OAKLANDS.

OAKLANDS............ 4 BEECH PARK...... 3

The first match of the season took place at the Nine Acres, Phoenix Park, on Saturday, when Oaklands defeated Beech Park by 4 goals to 3. Although weather and ground conditions were not too favourable, the game was played at a fast pace, and throughout the four chukkars interest was always sustained.

Oaklands proved their superiority in the latter half of the game, when the ground cut up somewhat, and from being led by 2-1 at the end of the second chukkar, combined so effectively, through the medium of Major Kirkwood, that they registered three goals before the end, and were deserving winners.

Oaklands were first to score when, in the opening chukkar, Major O'Rorke scored a splendid goal. This lead was soon lost when Mr. Horsbrugh-Porter and Mr. Durack scored two very smart goals. In the third chukkar Major Kirkwood put Oaklands on even terms, and later in the final quarter, Mr. Johnson made the issue safe by scoring twice before Mr. Durack closed the scoring for Beech Park.

Oaklands—Herr von Dehn, Mr. J. Johnson, Major O'Rorke, Major Kirkwood (capt.).

Beech Park—Messrs. J. Martin, J. Durack (capt.), A. M. Horsbrugh-Porter, C. E. Martin, and F. H. Stern (last chukkar).

Umpire—Mr. W. Magee.

HUNTING.

CO. LIMERICK HOUNDS.

SUMMARY OF THE SEASON.

Cub hunting commenced on August 16th and the season finished on March 24th. The total number of hunting days, including cubbing, was 106, and hounds were stopped by frost and snow on five days. The number of foxes killed was 37½ brace and 73½ brace were marked to ground. There were no blank days.

Scenting conditions were poor throughout the season, but, in spite of this, sport generally was good, and several good hunts were enjoyed, notably on December 3rd, when there was a very enjoyable hunt of two hours ten minutes from Maine, hounds bringing down their fox below Liskennett Hill. Another good day was on December 7th, from Kiddlestown, when hounds were stopped running into the mountains beyond Shanagolden, after a brilliant gallop of one hour thirty minutes. On January 4th there was another excellent hunt of one hour fifty minutes, when hounds found at Keatings, and killed their fox at Russ Wood.

There is a plentiful supply of foxes on all sides of the country, and, with a good entry of 27½ couple of hounds, prospects look bright for next season.

DIME MAY WIN THE STEWARDS' HANDICAP.

ALTHOUGH the flat racing season is now in full swing, the sport run under National Hunt Rules has plenty of firm adherents, and there should be a good crowd at the Colwall Park fixture to-day. Every event on the card is likely to be strongly contested. Perhaps, the Stewards' Handicap Hurdle will prove the best betting proposition. Swanlake Bay, who has 13st. to carry, appears penalised out of it.

I cannot fancy Tuck Up, who did not run a good race at Uttoxeter. At that meeting, however, Dime showed to advantage, and she is running into her best form. Chips, who showed to advantage at Pershore recently, is in first class fettle just at present, and will be dangerous to oppose. Torrish, who was prominent at Stratford-on-Avon a few days ago, may run well, but in selecting

DIME

I hope to have named the winner.

Tapinois, who won at Newton Abbot last Wednesday, will be a fancied candidate for the Eastnor Park Maiden Hurdle, and if he can reproduce that running he will be very difficult to beat.

LION COURAGE,

however, who registered a convincing victory at Stratford-on-Avon at the expense of Cardinal and Neptune II., has the vote.

Roquefort II., who won from Kilha and Lady Margaret II., may attempt to carry his 7lb. penalty successfully in the British Camp Handicap Steeplechase, but with 12st. 12lb. I think that he has been given too much to do. D. Harrison is strongly represented with Dove's Pride and Pathos, and whichever he runs will have to be watched. Daggerdale finished second to Roquefort II. at Tarporley, but now meets him on much better terms, and must be considered. Bath Chap was a good third to Lammergeier at Uttoxeter, and on that running he should beat Village Boy. Columbus, Ballyspinner and King Oscar must be considered, but I take to beat Daggerdale and win.

LITTLE BRITON

has the vote for the Colwall Park Hunters' Steeplechase, and in his absence I would rely upon Yellow Oriel.

The Ledbury Selling Handicap may fall to

WILD THYME

THE EASTER CUP SEMI-FINAL.

LIMBER TOES DEFEATS RUSTIC MARTIN.

LIMBER TOES won the second semi-final of the Easter Cup at Shelbourne Park on Saturday night, after a good race with Rustic Martin, who led to the straight, where Limber Toes headed him, and won by a couple of lengths. Kerry Blazer, the favourite, had only half a length to spare from Bottle Snake in the Clonmel Stake, but Gentle Dick had too much pace for his opponents in the Sandymount Sprint. Mr. J. McCarthy secured a double event through the successes of Lexington and Yukon Trail in their respective hurdle events. Details:—

SWIMMING

CONNAUGHT CLUBS AFFILIATED.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE I.A.S.A.

PERHAPS the most noteworthy feature of a highly successful meeting of the Irish Amateur Swimming Association in Dublin on Saturday was the affiliation of clubs in Galway and Sligo, and thus, for the first time in the history of the Association, the question of the formation of a branch in Connaught took definite shape. Clubs are also being formed at Carrick-on-Shannon and other centres, and the Galway and Sligo clubs were affiliated through the Leinster Branch, pending the establishment of a branch in Connaught.

THE CORK BATHS.

After a discussion, initiated by Mr. H. M. Dockrell, it was decided that the Association would co-operate with the Munster Branch in representations to the Cork Corporation regarding the construction of the baths at present being built by the Corporation in order to render possible the holding of international contests in the baths. The present scheme of construction was described as unsuitable for such a purpose.

On the proposal of Mr. H. F. Brennan, plain and springboard diving events for men were added to the championship schedule, and to the former was allocated the cup won by the Irish team at the Tailteann Games and Mr. J. H. Morton's offer of a trophy for the springboard event was gratefully accepted.

It was decided to appoint a representative to the Inter-country General Purposes Committee, on which England, Scotland and Wales were represented, and from which the I.A.S.A. had stood aloof for some years.

FIXTURES.

The proposal of the Scottish A.S.A. to hold the Scotland-Ireland Water Polo match at Prestwich on Saturday, 24th June, was agreed to, and the Ireland-Wales match was fixed for Blackrock Baths on Saturday 12th August.

Championships for 1933 were allocated as follows:—

To Leinster—Ladies, 100 yards. Men, 100, 440 and 880 yards, free style, 100 yards breast stroke, and springboard diving.

To Ulster—Ladies, 220 yards and diving. Men, 220 yards and mile, free style, 100 yards back stroke, and plain diving.

The Leinster-Munster semi-final of the Irish Cup will be played at Cork, and the final, between the winners of that tie and the Ulster Section winners, at Dublin. The Leinster v. Ulster Water Polo match will be played in Ulster. An international trial will be held at Blackrock on June 17th.

The report of the hon. secretary, Mr. F. Cunningham, was unanimously adopted, as was the financial statement of the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. J. McCormick).

OFFICIALS FOR 1933.

President—Mr. J. J. Crawford, Ulster. Vice-Presidents—Messrs. H. G. Ellerker, Leinster, and McCready, Ulster. Hon. Secretary—Mr. F. Cunningham, Ulster. Hon. Treasurer—Mr. W. J. McCormick, Leinster. Hon. Auditors—Mr. H. M. Dockrell, T.D., and Mr. N. M. Purcell.

International Team Selection Committee—Messrs. H. F. Brennan, Leinster; W. Chester and J. P. Goss, Ulster.

Representatives to Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur—Messrs. H. F. Brennan and F. Cunningham.

TRINITY SECOND IN THE SQUADRON RACE.

Dublin University, although only entered in two events, acquitted themselves remarkably well by winning the water polo championship and gaining second place to London, the holders, in the squadron race in record time—2 mins. 15 secs.—in the Universities' championships at Liverpool. In the squadron Dublin's defeat by two yards was mainly attributable to rather slow turning and the superior pushing off by London. The brothers Dockrell, Drury, Boyle and Fletcher represented Dublin.

MOTOR CYCLING.

WRIGHT FAILS IN ATTEMPT.

RECORD TIME STILL STANDS.

J. S. Wright, the motor cyclist, made four unsuccessful attempts on Saturday to regain for Britain the world's motor cycling speed record on Southport sands. His speeds were:—

133.15 miles per hour.
132.44 miles per hour.
123.80 miles per hour.
132.20 miles per hour.

Thus the record of 151.7 miles per hour, held by the German, Herr Ernst Henne, remains a record still.

It was apparent from the start on Saturday that the machine was not developing its maximum speed or power. After the final run the machine was taken back to the garage in Southport, where expert engineers and mechanics dismantled it.

One of the biggest crowds ever seen on the foreshore lined the two miles measured course, and Wright, as he sped down between the sand dunes and the sea, smothered them in clouds of flying sand sent up from his unprotected wheels. Conditions were good, although there was a strong wind. When Wright heard that his first round had produced a speed of only 133 miles an hour, gear ratios and other mechanical adjustments were made, but his efforts were futile.

A full examination is being made of his machine and engine, and until this is completed it will be impossible to state Wright's future plans.

GAELIC GAMES.

COLLEGIANS' FINE FINISH.

HEAVY SCORING BY THE GUARDS.

(By PAT'O.)

THE re-appearance of Joseph O'Sullivan, Kerry's centre-back, infused new verve into the University team yesterday. Quinn was back in Geraldines' attack, while M. Kelly was on the injured list. Geraldines opened at a faster pace than in their earlier ties, and half-way through they looked like winning. Then came U.C.D.'s well-planned passing and speedy wing work. They drew level at three-quarter way, and finished with rare dash and cohesion, to win a good game and raise hopes for the semi-final. The Garda hurlers had trained assiduously for their Owen Rhuas game. From the throw-in they crashed ball after ball at O'Brien's goal, and never eased off to the interval, when they led by seven clear goals. The second half was a procession. Owen Rhuas, completely out-classed, had a few late gift scores near the end, when in hopeless arrear. The Garda will meet the winners of the Young Irelands v. Army match in the final.

UNIVERSITY COLL. 1-3 GERALDINES 0-4

Playing spirited football, Geraldines pressed hard, but O'Sullivan's strength and sound judgment saved the students before Quinn broke away on the right to shoot the opening points for Geraldines. Casey was busy, using his strength well, but Lee had a free thirty yards out, to score Geraldines' second minor. He was on the mark with his next, and U.C.D. were three points in arrear. Robust work by O'Sullivan let the students away. A good drive by Connolly opened their score. Lee took his centres well, and a crossing shot gave Geraldines a lead of 4 points to 1 at the interval.

The College, using the breeze well, took the game to Geraldines' backs, but in the next ten minutes lost half a dozen chances at close quarters. Boyle kept a great goal for Geraldines. Higgins hit the posts high up, and Powell's free reached Walsh on the mark, and a low shot for a goal put the scores level. The students looked like getting through again, McKenna, Flood and Higgins being dangerous, and Powell's accurate free gave them the lead after 45 minutes. Dore's next attempt finished high above the cross-bar, and the score was 1 goal 3 points (6 points) to 4 points in the students' favour. In a fast finish no further scores came.

GARDA............ 11-3 EOGHAN RHUAS... 1-2

Eoghan Rhuas' backs were defending from the break-away, and Power crossed to Phelan, who goaled for the Guards inside a minute. Gill and Quinlan dominated the play in midfield, lofting high balls to the square, and Brown, Flanagan, and Power turned rapid goals in. The Garda were 13 points up after seven minutes. Moore doubled Rhuas' first point from the 40-mark. It was only a flash in the pan; for the Garda scored with monotonous regularity. Brown had two from flying balls, and Flanagan another off a rapid lift and hit. Half-time—Garda, 7 goals 1 point; Rhuas, 1 point. Gill and Conniffe raised further Garda flags in the second half, and the game lacked interest. The leaders eased off near the end. Loughlin and Melinn scored, but Power and Browne scored at will.

ATHLETICS.

THE DUBLIN SCHOOLS' DAY.

BLACKROCK RETAIN SENIOR SHIELD : A SHOT RECORD.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

BLACKROCK COLLEGE achieved another victory in the senior division of the County Dublin Schools' Union's Sports at Lansdowne road on last Saturday, scoring firsts in five of the seven events and taking second place in another. The Olympic 1932 trophy for field events and the President's Cup also went to the College, which registered a total of thirty-three points. O'Connell School was second with eight points, and Morgan's School third with seven.

The Junior Shield, which Synge Street Christian Brothers' School lost last season, was regained in a close finish with Blackrock, the scoring of a third in the Relay giving them an invaluable point and an aggregate of seventeen points to Blackrock's sixteen. Castleknock was third with seven points.

A JUNIOR RECORD-BREAKER.

There were several noteworthy performances, but perhaps the best was the beating of the schools' junior record for the 7lb. Shot by James Keogh, of Synge Street School, with the remarkable putt, for a junior, of 46 feet. A tall, well-set-up lad, he gets the shot nicely away, but his foot-work is faulty. If he were able to change his feet like, say, C. Shine, of Blackrock, who is the most stylish shot-putter of our Irish boys, Keogh would easily add a few feet to his "putting."

Another excellent display was that in the Junior High Jump, which was won by P. Lyons, of Castleknock College, with 5 feet 0¾ inches. This boy is on the small side, but he flew over the lath, despite the slippery ground, which handicapped the lads in the field events.

A COMING SHOT-PUTTER.

The most improved of the Senior Shot putters is Shine, who, if he continues to specialise in the Shot, will gain national honours; for he has every qualification for this department of athletics. A fine "double" was brought off by the Kerry boy, D. Sheehan, of Blackrock, who, as might have been expected from a record holder, had it all his own way in the Long Jump, in which he cleared 20 feet 4 inches; but his high jump was only 2¼ inches better than Lyons' effort in the Junior.

At these meetings we never had such a thrilling half mile as this one, which was fought out by J. O'Reilly, of O'Connell School, and T. M'Manus, of Synge Street, the former, with a last despairing effort, literally hurtling himself at the tape. Almost as exciting was the finish for the Senior 100 Yards, for a couple of feet would have separated J. G. Campbell, of Blackrock, V. H. Howard, of King's Hospital, and N. V. Commiskey, of Morgan's School, the time being 10 3-5 secs.

A WELL-RUN 300 YARDS.

Inches also separated the winner of the Junior 100 Yards, B. Collins, of Synge Street, and D. O'Connor, of Blackrock, but his time was equalled by the winner of the Juvenile event, K. P. Flanagan, of Synge Street, who was clocked at 11 3-5 secs. I must also mention the fine running of N. V. Commiskey in the Senior 300 Yards, which he won by a couple of yards from the Blackrock boy, G. Doodge, in 35 4-5 secs.

Altogether, it was a magnificent meeting, and again was it strikingly demonstrated that the athletic revival movement is making wonderful strides in our colleges and schools. The points were:—

Senior—Blackrock College, 33; O'Connell School, 8; Morgan's School, 7; King's Hospital, 6½; Terenure College, 6; Westland Row Christian Brothers' School, 4½; Synge Street Christian Brothers' School, 3½; St. Andrew's College, 1; Castleknock College, 1; the High School, ½.

Junior—Synge Street C.B.S., 17; Blackrock College, 16; Castleknock College, 7; O'Connell School, 6; St. Mary's College, 3; Terenure College, 2.

300 Yards—Final—N. V. Commiskey (Morgan's School), 1; G. Doodge (Blackrock College), 2; B. Dunne (O'Connell School), 3. Two yards. 35 4-5 secs.

TWO TRINITY TITLES FOR DAWSON.

On the results of Saturday's championships in the College Park the standard of athletics in Trinity is definitely on the up grade; for, despite the fact that heavy rain fell throughout the afternoon, the majority of the times were better than last year's, and the method of winning the events more impressive. Two men in particular give promise of playing an important part in championship meetings this season—M. G. Hewson and R. H. Wallace. The former is a real discovery as a long-distance runner. He won the mile and three miles in excellent time, and was not pressed at any period in either race. He has a long, raking stride, and shows a sound idea of the right moment to increase his pace. On a day totally unsuitable for hurdling, Wallace did capital time and showed excellent style. At one time he looked like being hard pressed by the holder, Bamber, but the latter completely lost his rhythm at the second last hurdle and knocked it down.

G. A. Levis, who has had considerable experience in open meetings, put in a strong finish to beat McNeice in the 100 yards, and in the 220 the Munster Rugby footballer was again beaten in a close finish by H. R. Davies. There was a surprise in the quarter and half-mile, D. G. Walker, the holder of each event, being beaten each time on the run-in, after leading from the start. Wells put in a splendid finish in the half, as did Mitchell in the quarter. J. M. W. Howe won both jumps, his effort of 22ft. 0¼ins. being a splendid one in the conditions. Results:—

YACHTING.

DUBLIN BAY CLUB'S OPENING DAY.

PAULINE'S SUCCESS IN 17-FOOTERS' MATCH.

What was wanted badly on Saturday was a glint of sunshine to brighten up the D.B.S.C. opening day. The weather was damp and cheerless, and the light S.S.E. breeze left a haze over the bay. From a sailing point of view, however, the conditions were passable, and the start of nine and ten tions was passable, and the start of nine and ten 17-Footers and Wags—the only classes ready—were encouraging at this stage of the season.

Pauline won the 17-Footers' match in good style. She was second to Oona at the close of the run to the Bar buoy, and was third to Bobolink and Hera at the end of the beat to Bullock. It was on the run up from the latter mark that she took the lead.

The Water Wags' match was won by Pansy. It was the first time this year that the class went outside harbour, and, incidentally, they had a beat down to Bullock with the ebb helping them. Pansy did only moderately during the round of the harbour marks; on the other hand, Coquette, Phyllis and Tomboy did well, Coquette leading the fleet out of harbour. Pansy got the lead through Coquette over-reaching at the mark, and holding Phyllis pinned astern of her. Tomboy now had a great chance of getting around first, but missed an opportunity, which Pansy took and thereby won. Details:—

BOXING.

PAOLINO DEFEATS THE CHAMPION.

MADRID, Sunday.

Paolino Uzcudun, the former Spanish woodchopper, made a great "come back" here last night by outpointing the European champion, Pierre Charles, and thus winning the Championship of Europe. Fifteen thousand people packed the Madrid Bull Ring to see the fight, which did not begin until about midnight.

It was a close fight. Paolino adopted his usual crouching, plunging, and hard-hitting tactics. Charles' superior boxing ability earned him the early rounds, but thereafter Paolino warmed to his work, and took several rounds in succession. Charles rallied towards the end, but unavailingly.

GOLF.

IRISH LADIES AT GLENEAGLES.

FOUR QUALIFY FOR THE MATCH PLAY STAGE.

IRELAND'S interest in the Ladies' Championship proper, which opens to-day at Gleneagles, is confined to four of her players, Miss Doris Pim, of Addington and Royal Portrush; Mrs. J. B. Walker, of the Island, and Miss E. Pentony, of Hermitage, and Dr. Marion Alexander, of St. Ruen; but the play of another qualifier, Miss Pauline Doran, of North Surrey, the girl champion, whose father is an Irish doctor in practice in London, will be noted by not a few. ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

ITALY DRAWS WITH ENGLAND.

A HURRICANE START BY THE HOME XI.

THE Italian and English teams played a draw of a goal each at the Fascist Stadium, Rome, on Saturday. The home inside-left, Ferrari, opened the score inside five minutes, and twenty minutes later Bastin equalised.

Policemen, with revolvers in their belts, carbineers in blue and red uniforms, and militia formed a ring of steel round the Stadium from an early hour to prevent unauthorised persons getting inside. Among those present were:—Signor Mussolini, Sir Ronald Graham, the British Ambassador, and Lady Graham; Senator Marconi, and members of the Italian Government and Diplomatic Corps.

While England deserved their draw, they had to fight very hard indeed. They found themselves opposed to a team of pace and skill, and, so far as the forward play was concerned, were rather over-shadowed. Particularly was this the case early on, the Italians apparently acting in accordance with a pre-arranged plan. Starting with a terrific burst, and having gained the lead, they played with great enthusiasm. Meazza gave a fine display at inside-right, his control of the ball being excellent, and his passes judicious to a degree, and he was generally the source of the attacking movements.

ENGLAND'S SOLID DEFENCE.

Once they had recovered from this hurricane beginning, England did better, however, their defence settling down to its best form, and when they got on terms the Latin temperament told its tale, much of the fire of the home side evaporating. White, the centre-half was great in the English team, for not only did he have a hand in England's score, but he restricted the opportunities of Schiavio, and late in the game prevented what looked like a certain goal, when Hibbs lay on the ground. Bastin overcame the unfamiliar conditions of heat and hard ground as well as anybody, and he fully maintained his reputation in goal-scoring for a winger.

It was not surprising that the Italians protested on one occasion during the second half, alleging rough play by England. The shoulder charge, familiar enough in England, is practically unknown among Continental teams.

F.S. TEAMS SHARE HONOURS WITH SCOTS.

SCOTTISH C. LEAGUE 2 LEINSTER LEAGUE 0

Two goals scored by Caskie and Cassidy inside twenty minutes gave the Scottish Central League the victory over the Leinster Senior League at Firhill Park, Glasgow, on Saturday. The Scottish forwards were much too speedy and clever for the visitors, for whom Whelan, the St. Barnabas's goalkeeper, played a great game to save his side from a heavier defeat.

FREE STATE JUNIORS 1 SCOTTISH JUNIORS 0

Only one goal was scored (by Whelan) in the match at Dalymount Park, Dublin, on Saturday between the Free State and Scottish Juniors, and it gave the home team a well-merited win. On the heavy ground and in the continuous rain the football was surprisingly good, the winners—younger, faster and more skilful—giving a convincing display in all departments.

Scottish Juniors 7, Drogheda XI. 0.

SCENES AT BELFAST MATCH.

For the third time in a week Belfast Celtic and Linfield were in opposition when they met at Grosvenor Park, Belfast, on Saturday in the semi-final of the Belfast Charity Cup. Linfield won by 4 goals to 3, Bambrick performing the "hat trick" for the winners. It was a hard, fast game in the mud, but towards the end feeling crept in and a player from each side had to go to the pavilion. Spectators were also lively, and party songs were sung, while when an altercation took place at the back of one of the goals police drew their batons to restore order. Some stones were thrown outside the ground at the conclusion, but the crowds dispersed quickly.

CLAY BIRD SHOOTING.

FREE STATE GAINS ONE POINT VICTORY.

Heavy rain fell in Belfast on Saturday and marred the Inter-State match at Ligoniel, but, nevertheless, some good shooting was seen. The competition was 25 birds down the line, and the Free State scored 296 against Ulster's 295. T. A. Crowe (Leinster) recorded a possible 25, and Commandant Hannon scored only one point less. The only woman competitor, Miss Foote (Leinster) scored a possible in the sweepstake and 19 in the Inter-State match. Scores:—

Free State—T. A. Crowe, 25; Commandant Hannon, 24; F. Perry, 22; T. Glynn, 21; C. Farrell, 21; P. Frayne and R. H. Lane, 20, 19; J. Gleeson, E. Stewart, P. Bates and Miss Foote, 19, P. Lennon, 18; Dr. Keogh, 17; Dr. McDonnell and Dr. Sheil, 16.

Ulster—W. Lamont, 23; J. A. Campbell and B. Campbell, 22; J. Maxwell and J. Shannon, 21; J. McCann, W. Carson, H. McAvoy and R. Crawford, 20; J. A. Stewart and M. McAvoy, 19; J. Fagan, 18; Dr. McKenna and W. Lawrence, 17; S. Boyd, 16.

AMERICAN BANKS RE-OPENING.

LARGE DEPOSITS STILL "FROZEN."

Recent surveys of the banking situation throughout the United States show that about 13,000 of the 18,000 banks have re-opened and are doing business on an unrestricted basis.

Before the bank "holiday" there were 6,736 Federal Reserve member institutions in operation, states Reuter from New York. Now 5,443 are open without restrictions, 680 are open with restrictions and 543 have not yet been licensed.

There were 11,435 State banks doing business before the holiday in the forty-seven States, for which figures are at present available. Now 7,654 of these banks are open without restrictions, 3,012 are open with restrictions, and the remaining 769 are either not yet licensed or are closed for reorganisation or liquidation.

Estimates of the deposits wholly or partly "frozen" in the closed and restricted banks vary from £600,000,000 to £1,000,000,000.

MASS PRODUCTION BY THE ANCIENTS.

"FACTORY"-PRODUCED IDOLS.

Mass production, blamed by many as a contributing factor to depression, is not new. Even the ancients practised it, according to Dr. Frans Blom, an archæologist of Tulane University.

Dr. Blom recently completed an expedition into the recesses of Yacatan, states Reuter from Chicago. There, he said, he discovered evidences of unit production and fabrication apparently practised during the Maya civilisation which flourished in Central America, and which has left monuments dating back to the early years of the Christian era.

Dr. Blom obtained measurements and data regarding the nunnery at Uxmal, a replica of which will be exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago.

"The stone used in the building," the professor reported, "was cut and shaped to standard size by the contractor, who supplied and delivered it ready to be placed by the architects and builders. Just how these huge blocks were transported through the jungles is unknown, for the Mayans had no steel or iron tools, and were not familiar with the principle of the wheel. Probably they were drawn on skids of sleds. All were hewn and shaped with stone instruments. Another 'factory' existed for the production of clay idols, which evidently had a place in all Mayan homes."

PEOPLE IN GLASS-HOUSES.

DESIGN FOR THE "HOUSE OF TO-MORROW."

A house of glass, in which you can live the public life of a goldfish or be private at will, is a Chicago architect's design for the "house of to-morrow." It will be an exhibit in the Century of Progress Home and Industrial Arts Section.

The back-bone and "nerve centre" of the home is a 30-foot tunnel, in which will be sealed the lighting, heating and water systems. The glass is thick and not easily broken. When completed, the house will bear the general appearance of a huge three-layer cake, each succeeding layer smaller in diameter than the one below. It will have twelve sides.

Glass, steel and synthetic building materials are the chief materials used. The bottom storey, a semi-basement, will be walled with a new insulating composition board. The second storey, the living quarters, will have outside walls and partitions of glass, permitting both the sun and the glances of neighbours to enter unhampered.

But to remedy that one can roll down blinds, adjust the curtains, or close the Venetian shutters with which each wall will be fitted to provide complete seclusion. The ground floor will contain a garage and an aeroplane hangar. There will be no slamming of doors, fumbling for keyholes and knobs in the dark. Electrical devices will open all doors.

THE JIG-SAW BROOCH AND THE "ROBOT" NECKLACE.

The craze for jig-saw puzzles which is sweeping America now has invaded even women's jewellery shops, says Reuter's Chicago Correspondent.

One of the latest brooches has a coloured composition disc, about an inch and a half long, which can be taken apart and put together again like a jig-saw puzzle. When being worn as a brooch the various little sections are held securely in place by a metal flap.

Another "modernistic" costume novelty are little "robots" made of beads or metal balls. They dangle like pendants on a cord worn about the neck, or can be fastened by a safety-pin to decorate the lapel of a coat.

"A STITCH IN TIME."

SMALL POINTS IN HEALTH MATTERS

THE DANGERS OF NEGLECT.

BY A MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH.

MANY excellent measures and Acts of Parliament for the protection of public health are rendered largely useless by neglect of attending to small details. No matter how good the measures may be that have been enacted for the public good, if the individual citizen will not assist by doing his or her part, much benefit is lost to the public.

Various Acts have been passed to assist in providing a pure milk supply, but it remains for the distributors to see that the milk is sold to the public under proper supervision and in a cleanly manner. Likewise, the householder should see that the jugs or utensils in which the milk is received are clean and are kept properly covered from contamination from dust and flies.

In matters of general physical health, and from childhood until old age, the importance of apparently trivial things is essential, and if such notice were common most grave illnesses would be avoidable. See that the eyes at birth are washed and, if necessary, treated; much permanent blindness is due to this neglect. Squint in children under the age of five years should not be treated as the result of teething, it may well be the first sign of infantile paralysis, and may show itself after some weeks as a weakness in one or more limbs.

Again, squint requires medical attention, because, although a young child is unable to wear glasses the wearing of a patch to obscure the the sound eye will make the child use the squinting eye and prevent the loss of sight that waiting for glasses may mean.

So, as we get on in years, trivial things still retain their significance—sore lips or tongues, due to sharp teeth, may eventually mean cancer; carious, unstopped teeth, will bring in their sequence chronic indigestion and the other troubles due to disordered digestion.

In health nothing is more true than the old adage: "A stitch in time saves nine."

BUTTER STOCKS.

POSITION IN THE FREE STATE ON APRIL 30th.

The following table, which has been compiled by the Department of Agriculture from returns furnished under the Dairy Produce Act, 1931, shows the quantity of butter held on the 30th ultimo in all public cold stores in Saorstat Eireann, and at the premises of manufacturers of creamery and factory butter and principal merchants. The figures do not include the day-to-day stocks in the hands of shopkeepers:—

	Creamery Butter. Cwts.	Factory and other Butter. Cwts.
Held in public cold stores, for dairy disposal company and creamery proprietors	258	—
For other persons	287	550
Held at creameries	7,142	—
Held at merchants' premises and butter factories	1,025	1,537
Totals on 30th April	8,722	2,087
Totals on 15th April	5,356	1,892

In the period from the 16th to 30th April the production of creamery butter was approximately 20,800 cwts., and the quantity stated to have been exported was 3,828 cwts. Public cold stores received 405 cwts., and the withdrawals amounted to 202 cwts., leaving a net movement of 203 cwts. of creamery butter into public cold stores.

MAN IN WOLF'S CLOTHING.

PEASANTS KILL DISGUISED SHEEP THIEF.

When spring lambs began to disappear in alarming numbers from fields near the village of Ciuciulea, in Bessarabia, the peasants appealed to the authorities for help—but the lambs kept on disappearing, states Reuter.

The peasants organised themselves into guards to discover the wolf and kill him. During the night, it is reported, they heard the bleating of lambs coming towards them. They could see a dark bulk like a wolf. They pounced on it, and in a few minutes the dark shape lay upon the ground, still. It was not until then that the guards found that they had killed a man.

Afterwards it was discovered that the dead thief had started a little sheep farm of his own—but miles away down the valley, where no one was likely to see what he was doing.

CAPTAIN GERALD LOWRY.

Captain Gerald Lowry, formerly of the Royal Irish Rifles, who went to France on August 8, 1914, and was blinded by the bullet of a sniper at Neuve Chapelle in the following September, being the first Irish officer to be blinded in the war, has just written a book, "From Mons to 1933," and this will be published shortly. Captain Lowry was educated at the Royal Academical Institute, Belfast, and played for the N.I.F. Club before the war.

Encouraged by the late Sir Arthur Pearson, he learnt massage at St. Dunstan's, and, after four years in hospitals, studied at Vienna, Stockholm and Copenhagen, returning to London to pass out as the first male graduate of the London College of osteopathy. After further experience in the United States he set up practice as a West End consultant, with a free clinic for the poor in the East End.

GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

THE RADISHES.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

We still give preference to the attractive and excellent little scarlet and white tipped, olive-shaped French Breakfast Radish, and a mere thimbleful of seeds sown fortnightly and kept watered, with a bit of netting after sowing to keep the finches away, will give a continous supply the season through. Well we recollect when Raphanus caudatus, the Indian rat-tailed Radish, was introduced as a novelty how popular it became, both as a curiosity and an addition to the salad bowl for its pungent and pleasantly flavoured seed pods. A packet of seeds sown now under glass will give plants of this curious and useful annual for planting out or growing as pot plants in the greenhouse, the seed pods being gathered when young and tender for the purpose indicated.

EXTERNAL APPLICATION FOR FEATHER-PLUCKING.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

An immediate stop may be put to the plucking if the feathers are saturated with some liquid distasteful to the birds. A good thing for this purpose is a strong solution of quassia, which is bitter, and at the same time of a clean nature. If the feathers are mopped with this as soon as ever the habit is noticed, it will prevent them from repeating it. Sometimes only one hen starts it, and if she is observed in time and taken away the habit may be prevented from spreading. Exercise, cleanliness, plenty of green food and fresh water are all necessary to get rid of this vicious habit.

Suits of Outstanding Character

There is a larger variety of suits to select from to-day than ever, consequently there is no reason why each individual should not be clothed according to his taste.

Several men like clothes which express individual character and which fit with the ease of old gloves. Such suits are a fine investment.

F. T. Siberry, of 57 Dame Street, has built up a very fine connection with suits of outstanding character at moderate prices—cut by himself in masterly style to each man's particular need.

And these suits can be had at two prices—that is—(a) they are tailored on the premises by hand-sewing tailors on the old principle, and (b) they are made in the same way as the highest grade Ready-to-Wear suits with the advantage of the Siberry Cut.

WATER.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

We all like fresh, clean water to drink, and the doctors tell us there should be plenty inside and outside. We do not often think our hens should be treated like ourselves. They certainly do not require the outward application of water, but they should have abundance for internal use. We are sometimes shocked to see how careless people are as to the sort of water they give their fowls, and on farms they are allowed to drink the most polluted water. We should be as particular about the hens' drinking water as for ourselves. Thoroughly clean the vessels every evening, and in the morning fill them with fresh, clean water. Keep the vessels—we prefer the open ones—in a cool, shady place and away from the danger of being soiled by the birds scratching dirt into them.
